Snow, Winds, Cold Blast Area

Some District Schools Suspended

The Tri-State District was shuddering today after one of winter's worst storms that forced the suspension of a number of school systems, caused extremely hazardous driving conditions and required cancellation of numerous events.

Snow blanketed the area to a depth of about 4 inches and high-velocity winds caused heavy drifting in many sections, requiring highway crews to back-track with their snow plows.

The storm was part of the severe wintry blast that originated in the Midwest and moved eastward rapidly Thursday afternoon.

The district has had deeper snow and much colder weather this winter but yesterday's blizzard-like snowfall, biting winds of near gale velocity and sharp and sudden drop in temperatures made this storm possibly the worst of waning winter. Spring is due March 22.

Charles Boughner, lockmaster at Montgomery Dam, estimated the winds averaged 25-mile velocity with gusts of 35. Gale velocity is 39 to 48. He said the wind was diminishing this morning to 8 to 12 mph.

The temperature started dropping shortly before noon yesterday as the cold front moved in and it fell as much as 3 degrees an hour during the afternoon.

Snow estimates ranged from 2 inches at Edwin Copeland's weather station at Millport, over 2 inches at the dam to 4 inches accumulation at the Leetonia garage of the State Highway Department.

A garage spokesman said all 15 crews went to the roads about noon yesterday as the snow started accumulating and they remained on the job all night and continued plowing this morning, mainly because of drifting.

Driving conditions were bad as the first snow melted on highways soaked from heavy rains, then the temperature drop created ice, which was then covered with more snow.

A state highway spokesman said roads remained snow-covered and slippery this morning. Roads in the district remained snow-covered and hazardous this morning, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Highways started to become slippery early yesterday afternoon.

There were traffic tie-ups at different times yesterday and today on hills such as on Route 7 north of Rogers.

All available crews worked during the night to keep main Hancock County highways open. Supt. Walter Batalo reported at the Pughtown garage.

Batalo said all primary roads had been plowed and ashed, and that clearing of secondary roads is progressing as equipment becomes available.

Driving conditions in East Liverpool were slippery early this morning, although street department crews worked through the night with snow plows, a grader and salt and ash-spreaders, police commented.

But traffic was reduced to a minimum as a result of the storm and only two comparatively minor mishaps were reported overnight.

A thick coat of ice still underlaid loose snow in most parts of the downtown area.

The heavy-duty, $11,000 Galion grader on which the street department took delivery Monday was put to use last night and this morning removing heavy accumulations of snow from Pennsylvania Ave., St. Clair Ave. and other major thoroughfares, Mayor Merrill D. Hall said.

The mayor made rounds of major streets last night in his private car, checking on the progress of the snow removal. He said he ascended all grades without difficulty, including Park Way.

Major thoroughfares are in "reasonably good" condition today, thanks to the street department's all-night work, the mayor commented. Supplies of salt and ashes were reported running low this morning, but they are due for replenishment.

Most suburban roads in the immediate East Liverpool area were treacherous, but passable. For instance, scraping left a

Black Muslim 'Enforcer'

Bronx Man, 26, 2nd Charged In Malcolm X Death

NEW YORK (AP) — Police arrested a young Black Muslim enforcer early today and charged him with the murder of Malcolm X, ousted minister of the black supremacy sect.

Limping as he strode into police headquarters with a bandage on his right ankle, Norman 3X Butler, 26, of the Bronx, was the second man charged in the case.

His ailment was not explained. But the assassination of Malcolm X by three to five men at a meeting of the rebel Black Muslim's followers triggered a melee of slugging and shooting.

Police described Butler as a Muslim muscleman, used to keep members in line and enforce discipline. He had been free in jail in the shooting last month of a former Muslim who was trying to set up his own mosque.

Malcolm, 39, was felled by 13 shots from three guns as he started to address a rally of 400 persons in a ballroom in the Washington Heights section of Manhattan.

Talmadge Hayer, 22, a Negro from Paterson, N.J., who was captured outside the ballroom after he had been shot in the leg by one of Malcolm's bodyguards, also has been charged with homicide. Police alleged he used a shotgun, one of three weapons employed in the deadly attack.

Police said Hayer has been uncooperative and has refused to disclose whether he is a Black Muslim.

Butler's identification as a Black Muslim was the first official link of the Chicago-based sect with the slaying.

Asst. Chief Inspector Joseph L. Coyle said Butler was arrested at his residence, did not resist, "but he seemed surprised."

Police believe five men were involved in the assassination.

Their charge against Butler was that he acted in concert with Hayer.

Two other Negroes were questioned at the police station in Washington Heights during the night.

Butler and two other Black Muslims were charged with felonious assault last Jan. 7 in the shooting of Benjamin Brown, 31, a Negro corrections officer. Police said Brown had broken from the Black Muslims and was setting up a mosque of his own in the Bronx.

Butler had been free on $10,000 bail in the shooting of Brown, who was wounded in the chest outside a Bronx store.

Elijah Muhammad, 67, head of the Black Muslims who open their annual convention in Chicago today, said last Monday his organization had nothing to do with Malcolm's slaying.

But as the Chicago convention convened, a heavy police guard was on duty to prevent a rumored threat of reprisal from Malcolm's followers.

Emergency Surgery In Vain

Young Negro Shot Down In Alabama Violence Dies

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—A young Negro shot in the stomach in a bloody night of racial violence at nearby Marion, Ala., died in a Selma hospital today following emergency surgery.

Jimmy Lee Jackson, 26, of Marion, who had shown signs of improvement since the shooting on the night of Feb. 18, took a turn for the worse late Thursday night and underwent a four-hour operation.

A spokesman at Good Samaritan Hospital said death was attributed to massive infection. The hospital said an autopsy would be performed during the day.

Jackson was shot in the stomach after Negroes began a night street demonstration as part of their right-to-vote campaign in neighboring Perry County.

Eight persons were beaten, including three newsmen.

Jackson's death is the first resulting from the civil rights campaign which began in Alabama almost six weeks ago.

Jackson's death came as attorneys and civic leaders here, at a federal judge's request, sought ways and means of ironing out registration problems which would allow Negroes to register at a fast pace.

In a prelude to another "freedom day" planned by Negro leaders for next Monday, U.S. Dist. Judge Daniel H. Thomas of Mobile conferred with several lawyers, including those who represent the county.

Thomas issued an order Feb.

4 directing the three-man Board of Registrars to process more Negro voter applicants. His visit to Selma came during a lull in street demonstrations by

U.S. Bomber, Tanker Crash Over Ocean

NEWINGTON, N.H. (AP)—A B47 jet bomber and a KC135 jet tanker collided today over the Atlantic, Pease Air Force Base announced.

A Pease spokesman said the collision occurred about 700 miles east of Dow Air Force Base in Maine.

It was not known whether there were any survivors.

Planes of these types normally carry crews of four men.

The bomber based at Pease Air Force Base was returning to the United States from Spain.

The collision occurred during refueling operations, the air base said.

The tanker plane was flying out of Dow Air Force Base at Bangor, Maine, where it is attached to the 71st Air Refueling Squadron.

The bomber had taken part in an air exercise in Spain.

SUSPECT IN ASSASSINATION. Detectives in New York keep their eyes on Norman Butler after his arrest today in connection with the assassination of Negro extremist Malcolm X. Butler is the second man arrested in the case thus far. Homicide charges were filed previously against Thomas Hagen, who was captured immediately following the shooting Sunday. (UPI Telephoto)

Thant's Plan $594,689 Set Seen Backed As '65 Budget By North Viet For Midland

U.S. Wants Notice First Hanoi Ready To Halt Arms Aid

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — North Viet Nam reportedly favors Secretary-General U Thant's proposal for negotiations to end the war in Viet Nam, but the United States wants indications first that Hanoi is ready to stop sending arms and reinforcements into South Viet Nam.

U.N. sources said Thant received word that the North Vietnamese regime was receptive to the idea of negotiations before he told a news conference Wednesday that he had made proposals looking toward a political solution to the war.

The sources said Thant submitted proposals two weeks ago to North Viet Nam, the United States, France, Britain and the Soviet Union for preliminary talks to set up another conference on Viet Nam like the 1954 Geneva conference which ended the French-Indochinese War.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference in Washington Thursday peace talks were out of the question until North Viet Nam shows it is ready to stop sending arms and reinforcements into South Viet Nam. He declined to say what kind of indication from the Communists would be accepted.

"No political gimmick" can stop Red aggression against South Viet Nam, Rusk said.

So long as the Communists are determined on "continuing aggression," he continued, "that has to be met on the ground, factually, directly."

Amount Represents $42,521 Increase; Tax Rates Same

A tentative 1965 budget providing $594,689 for borough operations was set Thursday night by Midland Council.

It represents an increase of $42,521 over the 1964 expenditures of $552,168. Tax rates, however, will remain the same at 13 mills.

The major increases are $21,120 for recreation and $9,263 for protection.

Miscellaneous and debt service will both show reductions from the 1964 figures.

The increase in the protection funds is explained primarily in the wage raise for the police force, while the higher recreation amount is due to the borough's plans to continue and expand recreation facilities—especially during the summer months.

The breakdown of the proposed budget shows:

Protection $105,768 in 1965 and $96,505 in 1964; health and sanitation, $67,100 and $63,050; highways, $91,750 and $86,752;

Midwest Left Reeling

Violent Winter Storms Hammer Eastern Region

(By The Associated Press)

Violent winter storms slammed across the eastern third of the nation today after leaving most of the central part of the country reeling from the worst weather in years.

Gale-force winds — 40 to 55 m.p.h. — lashed much of the northeastern quarter of the nation. Heavy rain, sleet or snow broke out Thursday along the entire East Coast, from New England to central Florida.

The storm of blizzard intensity which struck the Midwest, hitting hardest in Illinois, southern Michigan and Indiana, ended but cold air spread across the snow-covered region.

Below - zero temperatures were confined mostly to northern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota, with readings in the teens in the north central region.

The Southeast, including Florida, got a blast of the icy air along with gusty winds up to 50 m.p.h. The freezing line extended into northern Florida.

Deaths attributed to the storms, termed by the Weather Bureau as the most intense of the winter for the entire eastern half of the nation, numbered at least 30, including 8 in the Chicago area and 5 in Kentucky. Many fatalities were attributed to over-exertion while shoveling snow, others from exposure and in traffic accidents on icy and snow-covered highways.

Heavy snow, four inches or more, was indicated along the south shores of Lakes Erie and Ontario and in Vermont, New Hampshire and northeastern New York. More than six inches of snow fell in northern New England Thursday as an intense storm carrying snow, rain and strong winds hit most of the area.

Gale-force winds created giant drifts in the Midwest snow belt isolating some communities, stranding thousands of motorists and closing schools and businesses. Property damage was extensive. Air, rail and highway travel was slowed.

Chicago and Detroit were the two largest cities getting a full blast of the bitter winter elements. The 11-inch snowfall in Detroit was the biggest in 35 years. Chicago dug out from a blanket of more than a foot in some areas.

As the storm swept into New England Thursday, the observatory at Mt. Washington, N.H., recorded wind gusts up to 133 m.p.h. Gusts were clocked up to 110 m.p.h. at Franconia Notch, N.H.

Kentucky and Tennessee, in the line of the heavy snow belt which covered Midwest areas, got the coldest weather of the season with temperatures edging to near zero in some areas.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 16 below zero at International Falls, in northern Minnesota, to 62 at Key West, in southern Florida.

Talks Slated On China Pact

Reopening Planned By Union, 6 Firms

Six chinaware manufacturers and the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters have agreed to a reopening of their current three-year contract, but no date has been set for the negotiations.

The IBOP announced the agreement on the reopening today and said all local unions will be advised officially of the time and place for the negotiations by the international as soon as the facts are available.

The contract covers employees of the Sterling China Co. and Wellsville China Co., both at Wellsville, the Buffalo China Co. in Buffalo, N. Y., the Walker China Co. at Bedford, the Mayer China Co. in Beaver Falls and the Jackson Vitrified China Co. at Falls Creek, Pa.

The present contract was signed in November 1962 and became effective the following Dec. 1.

The IBOP already has agreed with the U.S. Pottery Association on reopening of the three-year pact covering generalware plants. The negotiations are set tentatively for April. The international will advise locals of the date.

In this area, the generalware pact covers Hall China Co., Homer Laughlin China Co., Harker China Co., Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co. and Salem China Co.

Eagles Lodge Safe Resists Entry Try

A big safe at the Eagles Lodge defied burglars' attempts to batter it open, but three coin-operated machines were rifled of an unknown amount in change and a quantity of whisky was stolen from the bar, police said after investigating an entry discovered Thursday afternoon.

Police said the intruders knocked the handles and combination dial off the safe and drove a drift pin into the front of the door in an unsuccessful effort to force it open. The pin was lodged so deeply that it could not be removed.

Police said a sledge hammer apparently was used in battering the front of the big floor safe. The hinges also were knocked off.

Capt. Robert H. Pyle and Patrolman Charles Winters investigated the entry, which occurred between 12:20 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. yesterday. Their report was timed at 3:10.

The intruders broke into cabinets at the rear of the bar and took an unknown quantity of whisky, police said. The office also was ransacked. A pinch bar was used to force open the doors to the grillroom and the office, officers said.

The intruders forced open and rifled a bowling machine, a mu-

Viet Cong Hammered

U.S. Continues Bombing Raids

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. B57 jet bombers continued hammering suspected Viet Cong strongpoints 40 miles southeast of Saigon today.

Air Force spokesmen said the twin-jet planes flew 32 sorties in the morning and 15 in the afternoon over jungled Phuoc Tuy Province. Each bomber from Bien Hoa Airbase carried 13 500-pound bombs on each sortie.

There was no immediate indication what success the raids had.

U.S. authorities reported that in heavy fighting in Binh Dinh Province during the past four days, the government casualty toll had risen to at least 160 — 43 killed, 51 wounded and 66 missing.

The heaviest engagements were due west of the mountain town of An Khe, along the main mountain road leading to Pleiku.

American casualties in the Binh Dinh fighting so far were recorded as one killed and 10 wounded. Six of the wounded were helicopter crewmen.

Fighting throughout the nation appeared in a temporary lull today, and no major engagements were reported anywhere. Viet Cong incidents during the past 24 hours were reported fewer than at any time in the past week.

Air force and naval units were alerted after another large Communist vessel was rumored approaching the coast from the South China Sea. Search units reportedly found nothing.

Last week the sighting and bombing of an ocean-going Communist boat resulted in capture of the largest cache of Viet Cong weapons yet seized.

Members of South Viet Nam's Armed Forces Council met in Saigon Thursday night, reportedly to pick a successor for their ousted chairman, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

There was no word on whether any decision was reached. North Viet Nam today called the U.S. jet missions against Viet Cong guerrillas "massacres" and charged they violate the 1954 Geneva armistice for Indochina. Radio Hanoi said the United States was committing "extremely serious acts" by carrying out the missions.

It Can't Be Purchased

Ohio Sen. Frank J. Lausche's strong support of proposed legislation to strengthen this state's strip-mine regulations brings out a prime fact about public opinion.

In a statement prepared for the hearing on the proposed law, Sen. Lausche points out that public opinion, formerly apathetic, now is hostile to strip miners fighting reclamation of land despoiled by this type of exploitation of a natural resource. No company that values its "image" can afford to oppose reclamation of strip-mined land.

There is no issue in public opinion about this—not any more.

Exploiters of mineral resources who want to get tough about it are so far out of step with public opinion they might as well drop out of the parade of progress. They are as reactionary as the old-time timber barons who ravaged forest resources and would still be doing it if Gifford Pinchot and Theodore Roosevelt had not turned what once was a business policy into a public scandal.

This is the new background for the old story that exploiters purchased a God-given right to despoil the earth when they bought a man-bestowed right to carry on certain profit-making enterprises.

The right to make a profit does not include the right to deface the earth, pollute rivers, or befoul the air—not any more.

We Tried!

When it's snowy, icy and cold — and it's all of these — there are few favorable straws in the wind of better things to come.

One, though faint, has appeared. Plans are under way for the 120th annual Columbiana County Fair at Lisbon next August. Such being the case, can spring be far behind?

This is a sneaky way in which to try to get your mind off Old Man Winter. And we doubt if it will help a bit. But at least we tried.

Now, get back to your shoveling.

The Fragmentation Continues

Fragmentation of the GOP elephant continues.

Latest addition to the fragments, each with an assumed right to speak in behalf of the Republican party, is the Planning and Research Committee in the House of Representatives.

This addition came into being, it is reported, because the Republican minority leader, Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. of Michigan, thought he had to appoint Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona, a Goldwater backer, to chairmanship of the Republican Policy Committee in the House.

But Rep. Ford had wanted to give the job to Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York, so he created the Planning and Research Committee and gave its chairmanship to Rep. Goodell. Whether or not this will have the effect of downgrading the Policy Committee is problematic.

It's All In The Law

The Labor - Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959 (Landrum-Griffin) is specific about union elections.

If the law is invoked against the United Steelworkers in connection with their election, the reasoning behind the law will be in behalf of rank-and-file unionists. The law was passed in 1959 for their protection.

In view of the vast powers given to union officials to bargain for their members, it was imperative that the government should guarantee free and periodic elections. This was necessary to assure union members that their officers would act in close accord with their wishes.

Every detail of the election safeguarding in behalf of members was spelled out in the Landrum-Griffin Act. Nothing in the conduct of an election was left to chance, from giving out notices to the membership to the distribution of campaign literature.

The possible use of the law in the United Steelworkers election lies in the likelihood that the official vote count, like the unofficial count, will show the two slates of candidates finishing in what would appear to be a dead heat.

In that event, the U.S. Department of Labor could order a new election.

No such safeguard ever has been created to cover presidential elections, like the squeaker of 1960 in which John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon literally ran a dead heat in the popular vote.

It can only be speculated uselessly now what might have been the outcome if another presidential election had been ordered in 1960.

Odd thing, isn't it, you never hear about instability in the government of North Viet Nam, only in the government of South Viet Nam, though the Vietnamese must be as politically chaotic in one place as another?

Many traffic problems can be blamed on what happens when women, accustomed to going first as pedestrians, forget there is no chivalry on wheels.

I cannot understand the uproar over Audrey Hepburn's not being nominated for an Academy Award in "My Fair Lady." Hepburn did not create the movie role; Julie Andrews created it on the stage. She did not sing it, either; the voice was dubbed in.

Many years ago, I learned to appreciate the value of contrary opinion in the evolution of thought. It is similar to the value of political opposition in public affairs. I believe that by keeping other governments in a dither, President de Gaulle of France keeps their spokesmen on their toes.

I wish I could believe the American Medical Association's "Eldercare" plan was proposed in good faith. But I cannot buy stock in any plan that would require separate action and new taxes by 50 states.

I continue to wince at untraditional architecture of new churches that do not look like churches. New churches should look like old churches. Religious matters are not subject to changes in style.

We Should Clamp Down On Propaganda

By Victor Riesel

There's a mystery lady roaming New York.

It would not be proper for a gentleman journalist to reveal her address. But no ethical considerations prevent the disclosure of her profession.

She is the newest agent in the U.S. for one of the so-called "People's Republic of China."

A lady of charm and wit, she goes under the name of Liuba Solov. On June 25, 1964, she registered with the Justice Department as a foreign agent representing China Photo Service of Peking.

Thus, she is the distributor in the U.S. of official visual propaganda produced by the nation which has been calling on the Communist world to destroy us.

THERE'S NO LIMIT on what the Chinese Communists may send her for sale here and for distribution across the country.

The Peking government's subsidiary mails in bundles of photos showing Communist success in farming and industry, receptions at airports, and photos of triumphant Peking leaders delivering triumphant speeches to massed multitudes.

During a recent conversation, Miss Solov said that from time to time pictures of the war in Viet Nam also were available. Since she is an agent of a Chinese Communist picture service, it is unlikely she would sell prints of victorious South Vietnamese.

Thus her stock in trade hardly is calculated to enhance the prestige of our allies or our own troops and technical advisers in South Viet Nam.

However, the law, which now is under discussion in Congress, permits her to distribute the pictorial propaganda of a country which officially has proclaimed itself our enemy.

SHE ISN'T alone in this profession. There are other registered Peking agents as well as representatives of Fidel Castro's government, press and industry operating inside the United States.

There is Philip Frankfeld whose front is New Era Books. He is registered as an agent for Peking's Gouzi Shudian. He runs a purchasing, selling and subscription agency in New York City.

Nor is the West Coast ignored by the Chinese Communists. In San Francisco Henry H. Noyes, also a registered foreign agent, runs China Books and Periodicals.

His value to Peking is made obvious by the name of his principal — "China Reconstructions." He also imports and sells other Chinese Communist publications.

It's significant at this violent moment that most of the Chinese Marxist appeal is to the youth of our country.

THESE AGENTS, and those working for Fidel Castro, can function freely inside the U.S. provided they comply with the provisions of the Foreign Agents Registration Act.

This law is not designed to prohibit the dissemination of such alien propaganda — even if the foreign sponsors call for war upon the U.S.

Thus the agents are permitted to distribute such publications as Peking Review and Evergreen. The latter is aimed at our youth. They frequently contain vehement and furious attacks on the U.S. Other literature blames Washington for war in the Orient.

This propaganda hardly can be expected to have a tranquilizing effect on youthful tensions.

WHAT ACTION the periodicals could provoke is in the domain of the psychologist, the psychiatrist and in the minds of those youngsters who go into the streets to demonstrate against the U.S. and its allies.

Thus, there are those who look to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to tighten the law. It can be done now, since a subcommittee is holding hearings on the revision of the Foreign Agents Registration Act.

Some observers believe it is just not sufficient to have a law which insists only on disclosure of those who sell such propaganda.

In view of the crisis abroad and the threatened violence at home, stronger supervision of the nature of the foreign propaganda and some restrictions on the foreign principals appear in order.

Double Talk Diplomacy

By David Lawrence

Lots Of Conversation Looms On Viet

Diplomatic soundings have been begun in an effort to settle the Viet Nam war, but this doesn't as yet mean negotiations.

Diplomacy has its own vocabulary to describe communications between governments in times of crisis. The object, of course, is to avoid putting any nation in a position which might cause it to lose face or injure its pride. Secretary-General Thant of the U.N. didn't help matters by his indiscreet comment that diplomatic negotiations could "enable the United States to withdraw gracefully" from Viet Nam.

At the present moment, for instance, the United States government does not want to give the impression that it is surrendering in Viet Nam or that it is weakening in any way. There is instead an insistence on an attainment of the original objectives which caused America to send military aid to help the government of South Viet Nam.

It's significant that after Harold Wilson, the British prime minister, had been in touch with President Johnson, there was a lapse of several days before the head of the British government was ready to tell the world, in a speech in the House of Commons, that "diplomatic consultation of a confidential nature" was underway to seek a basis for a peace settlement in Viet Nam.

NATURALLY, the White House had to say something in comment on this, as it could not be in the position of having authorized negotiations or of having taken the initiative in looking for a way out of the Viet Nam crisis.

Also, the State Department's announcement merely said that the British and other governments "have been in touch with us with respect to our attitude on South Viet Nam, and we have naturally given them a full account of the situation and our views."

The carefully worded statements do not reveal whether Mr. Johnson laid down certain conditions that must be met before negotiations would be started, but it is officially disclosed that he explained fully to the British prime minister what the American position is concerning possible negotiations.

This, in turn, enables intermediaries to get the reaction of the Red Chinese and the Soviets.

Meanwhile, the Moscow government got in touch with President de Gaulle to enlist France's help in a diplomatic effort for peace.

The French government disclosed that the Russian ambassador to France had "presented Soviet proposals aimed at having the French and Soviet governments work in concert to bring about peace in Southeast Asia by means of an international conference."

All the diplomatic "soundings," which are preliminary to a possible negotiation, do not indicate just what would be discussed at a peace conference, or what America would insist upon as a condition before entering such a conference.

SOME LIGHT is thrown on this in one statement made on Jan. 23 by William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs:

"The negotiation that produced a return to the essentials of the 1954 accords and thus an independent and secure South Viet Nam would, of course, be an answer, indeed the answer. But negotiation would hardly be promising that admitted Communism to South Viet Nam, that did not get Hanoi out, or that exposed South Viet Nam and perhaps other countries of the area to renewed Communist aggression at will, with only nebulous or remote guarantees."

This view was reiterated by the White House on Feb. 7, when it was stated that "the key to the situation remains the cessation of infiltration from North Viet Nam and the clear indication by the Hanoi regime that it is prepared to cease aggression against its neighbors."

It would appear that the United States government will insist at least on some kind of assurance that there will, in effect, be a cease-fire or a cessation of hostile operations inside South Viet Nam. It may be doubted whether the North Viet Nam government will agree to make such a pledge, but if the fighting happens to cease, the parleys will be carried on anyhow.

RED CHINA is ready to participate in a conference but doesn't want to agree to any preconditions before negotiations. It doesn't matter to the United States how the Red Chinese arrange to stop the fighting as long as there are no attacks while the talks are going on.

The United States is not averse to conversations on the subject with other governments, provided a readiness to talk is not misconstrued as an abandonment of the Washington government's intention to protect South Viet Nam against further invasions.

Meanwhile, the use of American-manned jet bombers for the first time in South Viet Nam may or may not be a coincidence, but it certainly makes it clear that, during all the preliminary talk of "negotiation," the United States isn't halting its military operations.

The outlook is for lots of conversation on a diplomatic basis behind the scenes in the next several days at least, with the possibility that some kind of international conference will emerge.

No End To War In Sight

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON It was a big, well-lighted room in the State Department, packed with newsmen, and Secretary of State Dean Rusk explained on what conditions this country would consider negotiating with the Communists on ending the war in Viet Nam.

But when it was all over, after 40 minutes of questions by newsmen and answers by the unruffled Rusk, the net result was simple: No end to the war in sight. And just a short time before, over at the White House, President Johnson's press secretary, George E. Reedy, had told newsmen about the same thing.

There was nothing casual about Rusk's meeting with the press. Through him the Johnson administration was stating its position for everyone to hear, inside and outside the United States, for Johnson recently had been under pressure from two directions.

At home there were suggestions he explain to the people the American position and problems in Viet Nam. Overseas, a number of countries had pressed for negotiations to end the war. And this week U. Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, suggested the United States get out of Viet Nam after negotiations to save face.

It was no wonder, in view of all this, that Rusk wanted to be sure he said only what he wanted to say after apparently a lot of thought by the administration. So he began reading from a prepared text on the American position before permitting newsmen to question him.

When they began they poked and tried to pin him down tighter but through all his answers he stuck to what he had read. This didn't make for an exciting news conference and a multitude of ideas but Rusk's purpose was to get one idea across and that's what he stayed with.

What he said, when looked at one way, seemed solid and definite but very flexible, perhaps, when examined from another direction. Thus the American government left itself room to maneuver if a point is reached where the Communists show signs of wanting to talk business.

The key phrase in all he read and said was this: "What is still missing (before any negotiations could be considered) is any indication that Hanoi (in North Viet Nam) is prepared to stop doing what it is doing against its neighbors. The absence of this crucial element affects the current discussion of 'negotiations.'"

That seems definite and solid. But, then again, just what is an "indication" that the North Vietnamese are willing to end the war? This is where the flexibility seems to be in what Rusk said, for in the end the United States would have to decide whether anything the Reds did was an indication.

12 Per Cent Boost Listed In County's Retail Trade

Columbiana County's 1,196 retail establishments showed $130.1 million in sales in 1963, an increase of 12 per cent from 1958, the U.S. Department of Commerce reported today after tabulating all data gathered from the firms in the 1963 census of business.

Retail trade provided jobs for 4,386 men and women, exclusive of proprietors, and a yearly payroll of $13.3 million, the department said. It explained that the last previous business census was conducted in 1958.

In volume of business, the county's food stores showed sales of $36.1 million in 1963, a boost of 23 per cent from 1958. In other retail business, the county's eating and drinking places had sales of $7.5 million and gasoline service stations showed receipts of $11.5 million.

Auto dealers and related retail trade establishments reported sales of $26.9 million and general merchandise stores reported business totaling $11.6 million. Lumber, building materials, hardware and farm equipment dealers had sales of $8.6 million.

For the state as a whole, the report showed 84,346 retail establishments with sales of $12,905,200, a boost of 19 per cent from 1958.

Census reports to be issued in the next few months will give state and county figures on wholesale and service trades, manufacturing and mineral industries.

Figures on the number of establishments and sales volumes for major types of retail establishments in each county are provided in the printed report, "1963 Census of Business, Retail Trade, Ohio," available at 70 cents from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, 20402, and at U.S. Department of Commerce Field Offices.

Preparation of the data was speeded by electronic computers which typed news releases at 10 lines per second, the department said.

State Reveals It Has No Plan For Route 30 West Of Lisbon

LISBON — Columbiana County officials learned Thursday that the State Highway Department has no definite plan for development of Route 30 west from Lisbon.

The fact was revealed at Village Hall during a session with Earl Nelson, deputy director of State Highway Division 11 at New Philadelphia, and Sherman Price, design engineer in the division office.

Countyans attending were Engineer John Ursu, Commissioners Frank C. Wilson, R. Max Gard and James Boyd; Richard Sanford of East Liverpool, vice president of the Township Trustees and Clerks Association, and Walter Cole of Lisbon, R. D. 3, member and past president of the association; Floyd Lower, president of the County Regional Planning Commission; Howard Firestone of Salem, commission vice president; Erwood Calvin of Columbiana, chairman of the commission's transportation committee, and Robert Williams, president of the Lisbon Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting was arranged by the county groups to find out what the department has in mind for improvement of Route 30, particularly west of Lisbon.

Spokesmen of the various groups urged the correction of a few of the dangerous spots on Route 30. They asked for a third lane on the Canton Hill west of Lisbon and elimination of a bad curve near the Old Beacon Light Hill, five miles west of Lisbon, and a couple of bad curves farther west near Queen's Garden Motel.

The comprehensive plan being prepared by the Regional Planning Commission for release this spring will point up the need of improvements and possible relocation of Route 30 west of Lisbon to the county line.

There was little discussion on Route 30 between East Liverpool and Lisbon since Route 11—the Lake-to-River Superhighway now under construction—will take care of Route 30 as far as West Point.

The group was told there will be a Route 11 interchange at West Point and Route 30 will continue northwestward toward Lisbon.

The Lisbon interchange on Route 11 will be located on Route 154 between Lisbon and Elkon and will include rebuilding part of Route 154 into Lisbon and building a connection from the interchange across to Route 45 north of Lisbon. Spokesmen said they were given to understand work on the Lisbon interchange will begin in 1967.

A Route 30 relocation proposed by the state several years ago called for the transcontinental highway to pass to the east and north of Lisbon before going west through the county.

Nothing was done with that proposal, although it has not been ruled out, spokesmen said.

With construction running some five years behind planning, little can be expected soon in the way of improvement of Route 30 or relocations at danger points, the group learned.

Airs Housing And Planning

A discussion on housing projects and the planning commission's activity featured the meeting of the Senior Citizens Group Thursday afternoon at the Parish Hall of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

The discussion was led by Harry Davis, third vice president, who conducted business. He also read an article on housing.

Members were invited to attend the meeting of a Senior Citizens' committee with Council Tuesday night when low-cost housing for the elderly will be discussed by a Steubenville Metropolitan Housing Authority spokesman.

The sunshine committee reported on sick members and shut-ins, including Mrs. Helen Kent, who is recuperating from an injured ankle at the home of her daughter in Canton.

Frank Shone led a songfest. The chorus sang two numbers, "Be Still My Soul" and "Singing In the Rain." Mrs. Anna Carr, director, was accompanied.

The social committee named for March includes Mrs. Anna Stephanovich, Mrs. Mary Campbell, Mrs. Minnie Lang, Mrs. Minnie Campbell and Mrs. Annie Schneibel.

Mrs. Ocie Armstrong was presented a corsage.

Lunch was served 63, including a visitor, by Mrs. Daisy McCain and committee.

A session of the arts and crafts was held in the forenoon. The next meeting will be held Thursday.

The Lisbon interchange on Route 11 will be located on Route 154 between Lisbon and Elkon and will include rebuilding part of Route 154 into Lisbon and building a connection from the interchange across to Route 45 north of Lisbon. Spokesmen said they were given to understand work on the Lisbon interchange will begin in 1967.

Women Include 40% Of Austria's Workers

VIENNA (AP) — Austria has the highest percentage of working women in Western Europe, a recent survey of the Austrian institute for economic research showed.

About 1,360,000 women held jobs, which is 40 per cent of all working people in Austria. Austria has a population of approximately seven million.

This percentage is only surpassed by East Bloc countries—in Communist Romania 45.3 per cent of workers were women, in Czechoslovakia 44.4, the survey said.

The institute said the reason was the "surplus" of women in Austria, who made up 53.4 of the Austrian population. This is unequaled in all Western countries, the survey added.

Letters Of Harding Ordered Given To Woman's Daughter

MARION, Ohio (AP) — The public may never see a packet of 250 letters that might shed some light on the personal life of the nation's 29th president.

Marion probate court ordered Thursday that the letters, written by the late President Warren G. Harding to the wife of a Marion department store owner be turned over to the woman's daughter.

They were part of the estate of Mrs. James Phillips. The estate was released after her daughter Mrs. Isabelle Mathee, Genoa City, Wis., advanced $7,820 in costs and debts accrued against it.

Mrs. Mathee, reached by telephone following the court action, declined comment and her attorney here, John Bartram, said he did not know whether she will disclose their contents.

Existence of the letters came to light last July after Francis Russell, a contributing editor to the American Heritage Magazine, disclosed excerpts he claimed were taken from them.

Russell subsequently was named in a $1 million lawsuit filed by Harding's heirs. The suit still is pending.

He has stated in interviews that the letters contained "internal evidence" giving credence to the charge that Harding was father of an illegitimate child born to Nan Britton.

Harding was born near here and lived here most of his life. He was governor of Ohio and U. S. senator during most of the years (1909-1920) the letters were written.

A Republican, he became president in 1920 and died his third year in office.

thin coating of ice in the right-hand lanes of the Freeway and packed snow covering the ice in the seldom-used left lanes.

Wellsville street crews used both a salt and cinder truck, working from noon yesterday until about midnight. Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare said. The crews resumed the job this morning, he added.

Columbiana County Highway Department crews tackled the county routes this morning. The drifted roads and inability to heat some buildings because of the high winds combined to force suspension of class in several schools.

East Liverpool public schools and St. Aloysius Parochial School closed.

Roy Cashdollar, Beaver Local executive head, said a number of back roads were heavily drifted, so he decided to suspend classes for the district's 2,480 pupils.

Icy roads were blamed by Jack Baker, Southern Local executive head, for the closing of school for Southern Local's 1,440 pupils.

A high school sectional wrestling tournament will be held as scheduled at the Beaver Local High School, officials announced.

No classes were held at the County Retarded Children's School at Elkton. Fairfield-Waterford schools were also closed.

Because of a scheduled teachers workshop, schools at Lisbon, Columbiana, Wellsville, Leetonia and East Palestine were closed today, but the workshop planned at Lisbon was postponed because of the weather and will be rescheduled, a spokesman said.

Schools in the United Local and Stanton Local districts were in session this morning.

Hancock County schools remained in session and school buses were operating normally.

Midland, Western Beaver and Southern Beaver schools were in session as usual.

The snow appears at end with only flurries forecast through tonight, with a gradual warmup expected Saturday to a 36 high. Today's high may continue below freezing at 20 degrees.

The downtown had 15 at 6 a. m. today while 11 above was recorded at Copeland's station. The dam had 16 and the Leetonia garage 14. Tonight's low range will be 10 to 15.

Tomorrow's milder spell may be brief as colder weather is expected to return Sunday lasting through Tuesday. There will be snow flurries Sunday and Monday, according to the extended forecast.

Winds, Snow Buffet Winter-Stunned Ohio

(By The Associated Press)
High winds and blowing snow continued to buffet winter-stunned Ohio today, snarling transportation and communications and leaving at least three dead.

The Weather Bureau warned of heavy drifting and the Ohio Highway Patrol urged motorists to use extreme caution.

The bureau said, however, the storm is beginning to taper off.

Northwest Ohio took the brunt of the storm, but Cleveland was lashed by a blizzard with 50-mile winds and the rest of the state shivered in sub-freezing temperatures, snow and wind. The Cleveland storm was called the worst of the season.

The weather bureau predicted flurries today but forecast "considerable drifting."

All highways were reported open but perilous.

2 Park Tracks Open For Use Of Coasters

Two sled-riding tracks are open at Thompson Park, both now equipped with electric lights. Supt. Joseph Walters said today.

There's a "slow" track for youngsters and another on a steeper grade for the older and more venturesome, Walters said.

Weekend hours for the winter sport are 1 to 5 and 6 to 10 p. m. The same hours apply when schools are not in session.

There is no ice-skating at the park during the current cold snap. Concrete blocks that were used to retain water in a flooded pavilion shifted during the last cold weather and the improvised rink no longer is water tight, Walters explained.

Skids Blamed In 2 Crashes

Skids on icy pavement were blamed for two traffic mishaps in East Liverpool early Thursday night in which a truck and an auto struck fences, police reported.

A 1963 model tractor-trailer operated by Donald Higginbotham, 27, of Grindstone, Pa., crashed into a fence at the property of David O'Hanlon of Minnesota Ave. Thursday at 7:24 p. m. and then rebounded and struck city-owned guard rails, police said.

Higginbotham told Patrolman W. F. Copestick he was driving west on Harvey Ave. at Elizabeth St. and his rig jack-knifed and went out of control as he tapped the brakes to slow it. The rig hit the fence on the O'Hanlon property and then crossed the road and hit the city-owned fence, officers said.

A 1959 four-door sedan operated by Harold A. Moore, 52, of Industry R. D. 1 struck the guardrail along the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." in another mishap at 8:42 p. m., officers said.

Moore said he was driving west about 25 miles an hour when he pulled to the side of the highway to avoid an eastbound vehicle. His car slid and hit the fence, damaging both front fenders and headlights, he said.

The crash also loosened two fence posts and broke a third, officers said.

Workers In East End Plants To Get X-Ray

The Mobile X-ray unit sponsored by the Columbiana County Public Health League will be stationed at three East End plants Wednesday morning to provide free chest X-ray examinations for workers.

Miss Lillian Schroeder, executive director of the league, said the service is provided by Christmas Seal proceeds.

Dr. Melbourne Burnett, plant physician for the Porox Division and Louthan Plant of the Ferro Corp., and the Patterson Industries plant, said those employees who have not had a checkup in the past year will be encouraged to take the X-ray. The unit will go to the clay mine of the McLain Works of the Refractories Division of the H. K. Porter Co. on Route 39 in the afternoon, according to O. E. Buxton, office manager.

IBOP Union Lists Rules In Vote Tuesday

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters today reminded its local unions of constitutional provisions governing a primary election Tuesday in which two nominees will be chosen for each of 10 contested seats on the Executive Board.

There are 52 candidates in all for the offices of president, secretary - treasurer and 10 vice presidents. Two of the incumbents are unopposed.

When voting, members will be required to register their names on a roll book and must be checked from the financial ledger before they are furnished ballots, the IBOP said.

Rules require that returns must be forwarded within 72 hours by registered mail to the international canvassing committee. Locals located over 200 miles from the international headquarters must send the returns by registered air mail, the union said.

The canvassing committee is scheduled to meet March 9 to tabulate the returns. The two candidates receiving the largest number of votes for each office will advance to the general election on May 4.

Ballots and other election supplies already have been mailed to the recording secretary of each local union, the IBOP said. Any secretary who finds an item missing from the supplies should contact the international office immediately, it said.

Justice Black Will Mark 79th Birthday Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Birthdays," says Hugo L. Black, "are very nice things to have."

Saturday the justice will have his 79th, but he isn't planning a celebration. "And there will be none if I can help it," he said Thursday.

Not even a birthday cake? "I don't like cake," the justice said firmly.

But if the weather is warm and dry, it is reasonably safe to assume that Justice Black will be playing tennis on the clay court behind his house in Alexandria, Va.

For while Black doesn't have time for hobbies, tennis is an exception. He plays every chance he gets.

The justice's health is excellent, his attendance record gives his office staff something to shoot at and his brisk work pace removes any doubt that he intends to stay on the bench. In any event, if Black were thinking of retirement he wouldn't have appointed the two new law clerks who will be at his side in the Supreme Court term that begins in October.

And he has made the appointments — two young lawyers from Alabama, the state where Hugo La Fayette Black was born on Feb. 27, 1886, the eighth child of a storekeeper-farmer.

In Wake Of Dillon's Resignation

Ohio Democrats Seek Probe Of Mental Dept.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democrats in the Ohio Legislature are asking for a look into operations of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction as a result of the resignation of Dr. Lowell O. Dillon, commissioner of mental hygiene.

Reps. Mary E. McGowan, D-Summit, and William T. Allmon, D-Carroll, asked the Legislative Service Commission to conduct the investigation in a resolution offered Thursday in the House.

The resolution would ask the commission to report back to the General Assembly no later than May 15.

Miss McGowan and Allmon said their resolution resulted in part from policy disputes assertedly behind Dr. Dillon's resignation and reports of dissension among employees in the department.

Dillon's recent resignation brought conflicting statements from him and department director Martin A. Janis.

Dillon claims he stepped down because he was being bypassed by Janis in operation of the Mental Hygiene Division. Janis asserted Dillon resigned under pressure because he was not getting desired results in Ohio's mental health program.

The resolution, also said "the governor's budget gave no indication of proposed expenditures and programs for the Mental Hygiene and Correction Department."

Legislators continued to pour more bills into the hoppers Thursday as they ended their sixth work week. Proposals now total 505 with no mention of a cut-off date for introduction of bills in either chamber.

Leaders in the evenly-divided Senate indicated Thursday that there may be more fireworks next week over confirmation of appointments by Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Democrats who acted in the absence of one Republican senator blocked four Rhodes' appointments Wednesday, setting off stormy debate which ended

Affair Opens Monday Moscow Meeting Likely To Aggravate Reds' Split

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The Russians, probably wishing they'd never started the business, appear to have little choice but to go ahead with the international Communist meeting scheduled to open Monday. Far from helping heal the world Communist rift, the session is likely to aggravate it.

At best, from the Soviet viewpoint, the meeting will be just about meaningless, an opportunity to produce a public chorus of denunciation of the United States and in private to debate fruitlessly whether the world Communist movement is drifting.

Clearly there is a widespread lack of enthusiasm among the invited parties. Moscow invited 25 which, with the Soviet party, framed the 1960 Moscow declaration.

Three parties — the Chinese, the big Indonesian party and the Albanian — already have rejected the invitation. Five more — Romanian, North Korean, North Vietnamese, Japanese and British — are likely to stay away. The result may be a turnout of 17 or less of the invited 25, a sorry spectacle of Moscow's leadership.

Even the Polish party has been expressing doubts of the wisdom of the meeting, which was supposed to prepare for a conference of all parties to study the rift and sort out conflicting views. Possibly there are doubts even in the Soviet party itself.

But Moscow has itself in a box. It has committed itself to the meeting and would be reluctant at this late date to back away. That would look like surrender to Peking. The Kremlin hardly wants to leave the impression that it bows to the Chinese pressure.

The meeting comes at an awkward time for Moscow. The Viet Nam crisis has reached new heights of tension and the Chinese point an accusing finger at Moscow. Fearful of being

U.S. Reveals 5 Tied To Bribes With Police Aide

Maloney is charged with failing to report $230,873 in income in 1958-63.

Allegheny Voters Eye $78 Million In Bonds

PITTSBURGH — A proposed $78.1 million bond issue for improvement of facilities throughout Allegheny County will be submitted to voters at the May 18 primary election.

The County Commissioners Thursday announced details of the bond issue which, coupled with federal and state funds, would provide a total $97.3 million.

Money would be used for improvements to bridges, roads, Greater Pittsburgh Airport, additional court facilities, expansion of recreation areas, new voting machines, aid to municipalities for roads, redevelopment and flood control and a community college.

County Tax Payments Climb To $2,578,080

LISBON — A total of $2,578,080 has been processed so far in payments of the first - half 1964 real estate taxes, according to Vincent C. Judge, county treasurer. The collection closed Wednesday.

Several boxes of mail postmarked before the deadline remains to be processed. The collection was estimated at $3,330,000.

Auditor Kenneth Bell said he has not set any definite date for sending out advance payments on this tax collection, as he usually does to help subdivisions with their budgets.

Snow Cancels Area Events

Thursday's snowstorm forced cancellation of several events in the Tri-State area, with most postponed until later.

One of the principal casualties was the special meeting of the Columbiana County Advisory Council Thursday night at Lisbon. Only six members appeared and Mayor Dean Stockman of Lisbon, president, said another special meeting will be scheduled.

The group, consisting of mayors of villages and presidents of township boards of trustees, was to have discussed a proposed consolidation of East Liverpool health services with the County Health Department.

The annual meeting will be held Monday night at 8 in the county health offices at the Courthouse with election of officers and appointment of a new member to the County Board of Health slated.

The Columbiana County Forests and Parks Council canceled a meeting set last night at the County Extension Office in Lisbon.

At the next meeting March 25 at the St. George Parish Hall in Lisbon, 25 council members will be elected and a panel discussion will be held on interesting points in Beaver Creek State Forest Park. Heber Lesig will list recommendations the council members have made for development of the park.

A scheduled power interruption for some 300 residents of an area south of Newell this afternoon has been canceled by the Monongahela Power Co. because of weather conditions.

The power shutoff, planned to permit installation of automatic equipment, may be scheduled next week, Walter Jordan, Chester manager for the utility, said.

The YMCA Stamp Club meeting scheduled for tonight has been postponed because of the weather. The meeting was reset to March 5 at 7:30 p. m., Carl Rassbach, president, announced.

The meeting of Midland American Legion Post 553 scheduled for Thursday night was canceled because of weather conditions. The date of the next meeting will be announced later, Leon Anderson, commander, said.

Mrs. Marie Hays, president, announced cancellation of the Inspection dinner of the Quota Club, which was set for tonight at the Travelers Hotel.

A meeting of the Oak Glen Post-Prom Association scheduled for Thursday night at the school at Pughtown was cancelled because of the snow. Next meeting date will be announced.

The meeting of the Daw Junior High Parent-Teacher Association scheduled for Thursday night was canceled because of the weather, George Geisse, president, said.

The meeting of the East Liverpool Garden Club scheduled Thursday at the Potters & Savings & Loan Co. annex was canceled because of the weather.

EAST PALESTINE — Hearings scheduled in County Judge Herbert Arfman's Court Thursday were postponed until Monday because of weather conditions.

The summer meeting will be the next and time and place will be announced, according to Robert Lewis, county extension agent.

Tap, Tap Mrs. Tappen

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — When a 50-foot elm tree fell on the William F. Tappen home, all six members of the family escaped injury — and only five of them were shaken by the crash. Mrs. Tappen slept through it.

returned along Route 7 a half mile south of East Fairfield at 1 p. m.

She was in a car driven by Joyce Kaye Strickland, 16, of Youngstown who lost control on the snow-covered road, the 1957 sedan going off the left side and rolling over in a yard. There was extensive damage to the car, the patrol said.

James Bowers, 30, of Rogers R. D. 1 was cited after his 1958 car rammed the rear of an Ohio Highway Department snow plow on Route 154 a mile east of Rogers at 2:45 p. m.

Bowers was headed west when he came upon the snow plow operated by Morris DeSelle, 52, of 1115 Main St., Wellsville, who had stopped to raise his plow. Bowers was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Elizabeth Trough, 48, of Hanoverton and Raymond Charles Davis, 20, of Lisbon R.D. 1 escaped injury when their cars collided on Route 30 about three miles west of Lisbon at 2:35 p.m.

Davis made a left turn into a private drive as the woman was attempting to pass.

A semi-trailer rig driven by Paul Moody, 35, of Clarksburg, W. Va., went into a ditch along Route 7 a half mile north of Route 14 at 5:30 p.m. when high winds whipped the trailer, causing it to skid.

Lloyd Smith of Morgan, Pa., was cited after his tractor-trailer truck collided with a car at the intersection of Routes 7 and 14. The car, operated by George Houser, 51, of Canton, had halted for the traffic signal, and Smith attempted to stop, then swerved around the car to avoid the collision, but the rig struck the left side of the auto.

He was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

There were some minor mishaps in the Salem area, officers said.

W. Va. House Holds Key To Abolish Death Penalty

CHARLESTON (AP) — The fate of a bill to abolish capital punishment in West Virginia rested with the House of Delegates today.

After a 45-minute debate Thursday, the Senate voted 20-11 to abolish the death penalty, and sent the House-passed bill back to the delegates for approval of a key amendment.

The choice was either to concur in the Senate's amendment or reject it. If the Senate should refuse to recede, the bill would be sent to a joint House-Senate committee to work out a compromise.

The capital punishment issue dominated legislative concern today, with a few other bills up for consideration. The House, however, was to vote on an important administrative measure to make the state health director a gubernatorial appointee.

If approved, the bill would allow the governor to pick the health director, instead of his being named by the state Board of Health.

The capital punishment bill approved by the Senate provides a life term for first degree murder, rape and treason but with parole permissible after seven years. These crimes now carry possible death sentences, although no executions have been carried out in the state for six years.

The version passed by the House, however, permits a judge or jury to decide if the prisoner is to be allowed parole.

If approved, West Virginia would become the eighth state to completely outlaw the death penalty.

Thursday's debate was long. Several senators warned such a bill might spring vicious killers or rapists onto society to murder or rape again.

In an unexpected speech, Senate President Howard Carson, D-Fayette, said he could not "square this possibility" of returning hardened criminals to society, although he said he basically was opposed to capital punishment.

Sen. Hans McCourt, D-Webster, led the opposition stating he saw no reason why a murderer or "sex maniac" should not "pay with his life."

Pushing the measure through was Sen. Paul Kaufman, D-Kanawha, who said capital punishment "no longer is morally just" and called for the "last vestige of this barbaric ritual" to be "removed from our midst."

In other action Thursday, the House passed 86-12 a measure providing pay raises for 27 of the 32 key department heads. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Elected officials who are department heads are not included in the bill's provisions.

Meeting Planned By Conservation District March 9

STEUBENVILLE — The Jefferson Soil and Water Conservation District will hold its annual meeting Tuesday, March 9, at 7 p.m. in the St. John Fisher Church south of Richmond on Route 152.

John A. Jones, director of public relations at the Weirton Steel Co., will speak. Entertainment will be furnished by the Senior Girl Ensemble of Springfield Local High School, directed by George Legge.

Russell C. Mills has advised the district's board he will leave his post as soil conservationist, effective March 29, to take a similar job with the Preble Conservation District at Eaton. No successor has been named. Mills has held the Jefferson County post since April 1962.

The district said rules for its annual essay contest have been sent to all schools in Jefferson County. The contest is open to any 10th grade student in the county. All entries must be filed by March 22. Prizes are $25, $15 and $10.

Nixon Calls For Air And Sea Attack On Reds In North Viet

CHICAGO (AP) — The United States should make "continuous and relentless" air and sea attacks on Communist troops in North Viet Nam to halt the flow of arms to Communist guerrillas in the South, says Richard M. Nixon.

The former vice president also urged that President Johnson forego any Viet Nam negotiations presently and said he was flatly opposed to turning over negotiations to the United Nations.

Speaking at a $100-a-plate Illinois Republican fund-raising dinner Thursday night, Nixon said: "We must win the war in Viet Nam. This does not mean to spread it, but to contain it with air and sea power, and to destroy the flow of men and materials into South Viet Nam."

In opposing turning over the Viet Nam situation to the U.N., Nixon said:

"To turn an issue so vital to the security of the United States over to the U.N. at this time would be to get a watered-down solution for the weak and the timid."

Calling for a presidential decision within a matter of days, Nixon suggested that Johnson call a summit conference of free Asian nations.

"United States security is not all that is at stake in Viet Nam. Japan, the Philippines, South Korea, Taiwan, Thailand and other free Asian nations must be mobilized," he said.

If South Viet Nam is lost either by negotiation or American withdrawal, said Nixon, all Southeast Asia would eventually fall under Communist domination.

Atty. Elliott Supports Bill To Cut State TB Hospitals

LISBON — House Bill 124 to regionalize Ohio tuberculosis hospitals has been introduced into the legislative mills in Columbus by Mrs. Clara Weisenborn, Dayton Republican, and Mrs. Bernice MacKenzie, Canton Democrat.

The measure would require the state director of health to annually pick which TB hospitals are needed, and would restrict any increased state subsidy to these hospitals. It is expected that this measure would reduce the present 21 hospitals to a dozen or less.

Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers, president of the Ohio Tuberculosis and Health Association said, "We had 2,569 beds for tuberculosis and only 1,456 patients. We need to keep our best hospitals for treatment and to reduce the number regularly on a planned program, this bill makes sense."

Additional cost of the doubled state subsidy and equalization of charges at state hospitals will be less than a million dollars per year, according to state and county tuberculosis associations, which are backing the bill. It is also endorsed by Ohio Citizens Council, Ohio Public Health Association and the Association of Ohio Health Commissioners.

"Our present system is wasting manpower, medical skills and taxes, and we are risking loss of all our hospitals or of fostering inferior care," Atty. Elliott said.

The bill has been referred to the house health committee and a hearing set for Tuesday at 9 a.m. with Mrs. Weisenborn acting as chairman of the committee.

One Killed, One Wounded In Attempted Prison Break

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — "It was a gamble they were taking," said Warden J. A. Mayden.

Thus, he described an attempted prison break at the Federal Reformatory during the height of snowstorm Thursday which left one prisoner dead, one seriously wounded and third back behind bars.

Warden Mayden said escape was stopped by carbine fire from two guards in reformatory towers. He did not identify the guards.

Killed was 21-year-old Robert Warren Crisman of Grand Rapids, Mich. He was hit about 150 yards outside the reformatory after he climbed over a wire fence. He ran another 50 yards, Mayden said, before dropping.

Shot in the abdomen was Robert Headley, 19, of Providence, R. I. He was wounded while still climbing the fence. Kevin Laurence O'Brien, 19, of Boston, also cleared the fence but stopped running when the shooting started.

Mayden said all three were serving six-year terms for interstate auto theft and had entered the reformatory in 1964.

Mayden said the three were walking toward the reformatory hospital when they broke and ran for the fence.

He said it was snowing heavily at the time "but I could see the fence from my office. There were moments when you couldn't see too well, but it was a gamble they were taking."

Cardinal Meyer Reported 'Okay' After Operation

CHICAGO (AP) — Albert Cardinal Meyer, 61, archbishop of the Chicago Roman Catholic Archdiocese, was reported in good condition today at Mercy Hospital after a brain operation in which an "abnormal tissue" was removed.

Dr. Harold C. Voris, chairman of the hospital's department of neurosurgery, said in a news conference after the four hour and 20-minute surgery Thursday that the operation was a success.

Dr. Voris, who performed the surgery, said the abnormal tissue was the size of a small lime or a large walnut. He said the tissue was taken out in small pieces. Dr. Voris was assisted by a nine-man medical team.

Dr. Voris said it would be two or three days before it could be determined whether the abnormal tissue was a tumor, benign or malignant.

Credit Union Has Election

Re-elected to three-year terms on the board were E. L. Millward, Paul Calhoun and Charles L. Smith, while Ernest D. Habberfield was re-elected to the credit committee for three years.

The nominating committee headed by Nile H. Wain, chairman, presented the report.

Approximately 150 attended the meeting with William F. Moll, president, presiding.

The entertainment included organ music by John Celli of East Liverpool and a magic act by George Bright of Beaver.

Freeze Averts Flood In Beaver Creek Area

LISBON — Residents in low-lying areas along Route 154 between here and Elkton feared possible flooding from a while Thursday as steady rain swelled the creek, which approached the highway.

Falling temperatures in the early afternoon halted the rise of the creek waters, however, and the flood threat ended.

DENTURES

Q. Are complete dentures ever as satisfactory as natural teeth?

A. If by "satisfactory" you refer to chewing ability, the answer is "no." Chewing tests recently conducted by dentists show that most people with upper and lower plates are even more handicapped than had been supposed. With natural teeth rated at 100 per cent in efficiency, false teeth racked up a poor 12 per cent.

SEASICKNESS

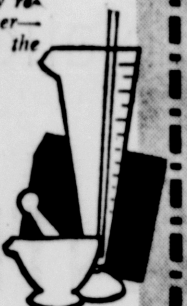

Q. Why do some people get seasick and not others?

A. There is no simple explanation. It is known, however, that infants are less likely to get seasick or to have other types of motion sickness than older children and adults. Perhaps this is because the infant's nervous system is not well developed. Susceptibility to motion sickness lessens in later years, perhaps because general responsiveness declines, or because of adaptation through experience. If movements are severe enough everybody can be made sick.

Answers appearing in these columns are of necessity brief and general and do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all physicians. Remember—the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I began to read your column nine years ago — for laughs. I stopped laughing after the first two months when I saw my wife, my children, my mother, my brothers, the boss, the family next door, then finally myself. Your column is a compendium of psychology, philosophy, English composition, sociology and social justice. And then there is the humor. It is incomparable. But this is not what I started to say.

I'm writing today about the letter signed "Just Normal Folks." They can't understand why there are so many screwballs in the world — nuts whose lives are all loused up. I have known people like that and they make me sick.

They are so proud of themselves, as if they fashioned their good fortune with their own two hands. They congratulate each other daily on how well they are handling their lives.

By their standards I'm not normal because I have had a great deal of trouble in my life. I did not arrange to have my father die under the wheels of a truck when I was 15. Nor was I responsible for my mother's heart attack two years later.

I was not to blame for my brother's divorce nor his suicide which followed. It isn't my fault that my wife and I have lost two of our four children to polio and that a fifth child was stillborn.

I don't know what luck is and I don't know how much bad luck people bring on themselves but I do know that some folks have a tougher time than others. I hope nothing unfortunate ever strikes "Just Normal Folks." They would go down without a trace. —BATTLE SCARRED.

Dear Battle Scarred: Trouble is an inevitable part of living. Voltaire wrote, "A man who says 'I have no troubles' is a liar or an idiot." And I'm with him.

Dear Ann: My husband insists the next time he hears our 15-year-old daughter say on the telephone, "What are you gonna wear to school today?" he is going to hit her on the seat with a hair brush.

It's annoying to hear her confer with girl friends every morning about clothes but I don't feel this is particularly bad. Please pour a little oil on the troubled waters. —BALANCE WHEEL.

Dear Wheel: And what's so terrible about girls conferring on what to wear? Personally, I believe this is a great deal healthier than not giving a hoot. And incidentally, the sloppy look is out. It's "in" to be neat this season.

Thin Disguise
Dear Ann: I'm going to disguise my letter by changing some of the details, because I don't want to embarrass anyone.

My uncle was the attorney general of this state 10 years ago. Every time my husband introduced me it went like this, "Meet my wife, Betty. She's the niece of the attorney general."

I never cared for this introduction, and I told my husband, but it didn't help.

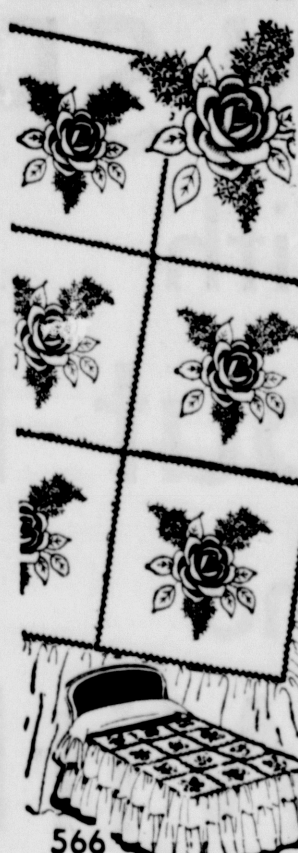

He still introduces me as the niece of the attorney general, although my uncle has been out of office since 1959. My husband says senators, governors and other politicians retain their titles forever. Right or wrong? —BETTY.

Dear Betty: Ex-governors, ex-senators and ex-colonels do not hang on to the titles — their friends do.

But this is not the real issue in YOUR family. Why must your husband drag your uncle into the picture when he introduces you? Does he feel you need a buildup? Does he need it? Tell him, once and for all, it is embarrassing and to knock it off.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Realign Figure To Minimize Buttocks

A hip problem may be directly traceable to out-of-kilter posture. Lordosis is the technical term given a posture fault in which the small of the back swerves sharply inward. In layman's language, it is called sway-back.

A Michigan reader describes her Ida Jean Kain perplexing figure fault thus:

"I have large buttocks. My hips stick out more from behind than they do from side to side. Some people have heavy thighs and wide hips. My hips project rearward. Can this figure fault be corrected? I wear size 18½ and weigh 170 pounds. I'm aiming to wear size 14½."

"SINCE I started your diet, 'Eat To Build Leanness,' I have not wanted second helpings. I have more pep and I'm not nervous either." (Eat To Build Leanness can be obtained by sending a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Excellent! Now if you realign your posture you can solve your hip worries in short order.

To see what is wrong, test your posture. Lie flat on the floor on your back, stretch your arms straight out on the floor overhead with upper arms close against ears. Stretch legs straight down. Try to lie so flat that the arms, entire back and legs are in contact with floor. Then ask someone to slip her hand underneath the small of your back. If this can be done easily, with space to spare, there's proof of your trouble — a tendency to swayback.

If you cannot place your arms against the floor, the difficulty is with the chest and shoulders; there is tension in the area of the chest and a tendency to rounded shoulders.

The following easy exercise helps to correct the swayback and straighten the shoulders.

POSITION: Lie on back on floor, knees flexed, soles of feet flat on floor. Have arms out at shoulder level, elbows bent, forearms back on floor. This position puts shoulders in straight line.

Action: Pull up-and-in strongly with the abdominal muscles, pressing small of back flat against floor. Hold contraction for six to eight seconds. Relax; repeat three times; later five.

Progress with following action from same starting position. Place palm of right hand on back of left hand, rest both hands on left thigh, knees bent.

Raise right shoulder off floor as hands slide toward knee. H-o-l-d. Relax; repeat three times. Perform by raising left shoulder off floor, sliding hands toward right knee. Hold contraction to slow count of six.

In sitting, keep small of back against chair back, pull up and in with abdominal muscles. In walking and standing, pull down-and-under with buttock muscles, up-and-in firmly with abdominals.

Send stamped, self-addressed, long envelope for Get A Lift With Posture. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Review. Post card requests cannot be answered.

90 At Dinner For Cub Pack

Ninety attended the annual Blue and Gold dinner of Cub Pack 31 of the Orchard Grove Methodist Church Wednesday night.

Awards were presented Ralph Smith, Mike Fitzgerald, Bobbie Young, Billie Collins, Mike Stenger, Gary Wallace, Larry Wallace and Bruce Forney by Earl Fitzgerald, cubmaster.

Two bobcats, Steve Bowers and Robbie Ferguson, were admitted into the pack.

William Rayburn, neighborhood scout representative, was guest speaker.

"Outer Space" was the theme with each den making its own decorations. A movie on space travel was shown.

Guests were the Rev. and Mrs. John Stilts. Rev. Stilts gave the invocation. Fitzgerald was in charge.

Uniform inspection will be held at the next meeting March 24 at the church.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

Dear Heloise: Living alone has taught me some cooking hints. Many people who are alone say they don't fix nice meals just for themselves because it seems too much bother, but to me this is most important.

When I bake potatoes (be sure to prick with a fork before baking to allow the steam to escape), I prepare several at the same time and freeze the extras. They are just as tasty when thawed and put back in the oven for 15 minutes, and they have a nice mealy texture. When I make slaw, I chop enough for at least three meals and keep the extra in a plastic bag.

I keep enough broiled bacon on hand for a week's breakfast.

After frying and draining on paper towels, I put the bacon in a plastic bag and just take out enough for one meal. These bacon slices may also be broken up and used in various dishes such as salads, soups, etc. This is a good timesaver, even for a family. It also heats in seconds in your broiler on foil and saves washing a skillet each day.

Cooked rice keeps well. I keep a covered bowl of it in my refrigerator. One can very easily whip up Spanish rice, almond rice, fried rice, or use it in broth. Rice can be used so many ways.

MILDRED GEARHART.

One does not have to live alone to use this woman's ideas. They would be wonderful for mothers with small kiddies when it comes time for a good noon meal (and don't kid me, gals, I know it's a slice of toast and a few cups of coffee for your breakfast) so you need a good substantial noon meal.

This will save doctor bills and tranquilizers later and they are a lot more expensive than the food we are buying today.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a suggestion for an economical method of using tissues to blot lipstick!

Once every few months, I take my scissors and cut up a quantity of regular facial tissues into small pieces which can be used once and then thrown away.

I find the quickest way to cut a large supply is to cut through as many tissues as my scissors will permit at one time, cutting any size on desires . . . square or rectangular.

I always cut enough to last for months, storing the excess in a clean container.

READER.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: I raise Siamese cats. The best way to correct them is with a water pistol filled with water. When they need correcting, just aim and fire! No puddles, and no chasing the cats to correct them.

Who cleans up the water from the pistol? HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Nearly every family uses milk or butter, cottage cheese or other things that come in waxed containers. When containers are empty, rinse and drain them. Mash flat. (I walk on mine!) Store in a box or sack and use them instead of kerosene to start fires.

The containers will not explode, don't cost a thing and it is handy to take a few along when you go camping.

Sometimes the wood in the mountains is damp and you have no paper for starting a fire . . . so use a couple of wax cartons and presto, a quick fire.

VIRGINIA GRUVER.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a very good hint for filling in space between the stove and sink to keep things from falling between them.

I use the length and width needed of foam rubber, and insert it in the space between my stove and sink or counter.

Can be taken out and washed and put back again. No waste at all.

Plain Talk About Plain Facts

And

Comes Up With A Plan

TO GIVE THE POTTERY WORKER WAGES, BENEFITS, AND JOB SECURITY SECOND TO NONE IN A COMPARABLE INDUSTRY ANYWHERE IN THE UNITED STATES

Most of the workers in the Pottery Industry, Never earn enough to put plenty in their pantry; Nearly all the workers in other industry, Earn enough to provide a pantry with plenty.

Why must the poor Pottery Worker Live the life of the forgotten worker, Forgotten by the leaders of the I.B.O.P., Forsaken by the members of the U.S.P.A.

Several of us asked ourselves that question over and over and finally decided to quit crying about our miserable situation and to do something about it!

HERE IS WHAT WE DID:

We formed a committee about eight months ago and went to work on finding out why we, the Pottery Workers, slipped so far down the economic scale, and what should and could be done to give the Pottery Worker what he should have gotten years ago.

HERE ARE THE CONCLUSIONS WE REACHED

1. The I.B.O.P. has lost its power because it is dying a slow death.
This happened because it has had inadequate leadership, particularly in the last four years.
The I.B.O.P. leadership, in the last four years, has spent over $800,000.00 for organizing expenses but it lost over 8000 members.
The I.B.O.P. leadership accomplished one thing. They provided a liberal pension plan for themselves. After that, they spent most of their time figuring out ways to keep themselves in office long enough to retire and enjoy the pension they created for themselves. This was done by grabbing control of the Brotherhood and forgetting the welfare of the members.
The I.B.O.P. leadership has handled grievances of its members in such a manner as to make the member who turns in a grievance wonder on whose side is the leadership, his or the company's?
The I.B.O.P. leadership has silenced opposition voices, created fear and distrust among many members, and will not let members use the I.B.O.P. hall unless it be to sing the praises of the leadership, like subjects to a king.
2. Too many Pottery Managers refuse to acknowledge their duty to their faithful, long-serving, respectable workers. They prefer and insist on sitting on their seats, protecting their positions paying substantial salaries, and to the devil with trying to find ways to give year round steady employment to their workers. They have not created a new productive job for each job that is cut off. The Pottery Worker made the pottery owner rich; but now the pottery owner makes the Pottery Worker poor.
3. The Pottery Workers, poor, but good people, are confused, feel sad, believe they are helpless to improve their living conditions, have little hope they can win the battle and feel it is useless to vote. Some feel it will make no difference who is elected to office, the pottery owner will win and the worker will lose out because nobody cares.

THE POTTERY WORKER HAS TO COME ALIVE!!

THE POTTERY WORKER MUST DO TWO THINGS:

1. VOTE ON ELECTION DAY FOR THE JIVIDEN PLAN AND NEW LEADERSHIP BY VOTING FOR FLOYD JIVIDEN FOR PRESIDENT OF THE I.B.O.P.
2. CHANGE THE CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS AS PROPOSED BY THE NEW COMMITTEE AT THE JULY CONVENTION.

GIVE YOURSELVES A BREAK—FOR A CHANGE!!

JOIN THE JIVIDEN FIGHT

Vote On March 2, 1965

HERE IS THE JIVIDEN PLAN:

1. GIVE THE I.B.O.P. BACK TO THE MEMBERS.

This can be done only by adopting a new Constitution and By-Laws which prevents officers from silencing the members, from interpreting the rules to suit their own purposes, and from taking away the right of the policy committee to decide what contract will be signed and what goes in it. After months of work, this new Constitution and By-Laws is nearly completed. Every member will have a chance to study them carefully before the July Convention where they will be presented. Without this new Constitution and By-Laws, the Pottery Worker cannot make the gains the Jividen Plan calls for.

2. OPEN NEGOTIATIONS IN AUGUST FOR A NEW CONTRACT WHICH WILL:

- (a) Raise the minimum wage for the female pottery worker from the shameful $1.50 ½ cents per hour to $2.00 per hour.
- (b) Prevent management from requiring a female worker to lift more than 25 pounds;
- (c) Raise the minimum wage of the male pottery worker from $1.72 per hour to $2.25 per hour;
- (d) Raise the hourly wage of experienced worker, male and female, 50 cents per hour more than is presently being paid;
- (e) Take away the no-strike clause as a weapon of management;
- (f) Grant full and iron clad seniority rights;
- (g) Provide for speedy settlement of grievances, and if not settled in allotted time, then grievance shall be resolved in favor of worker;

THE HEART OF THE JIVIDEN PLAN

3. GIVE JOB AND INCOME SECURITY TO EVERY POTTERY WORKER.

Job security means that every Pottery Worker must be guaranteed a minimum of 50 weeks work or 2000 hours including paid vacation time.
Income security means that regular income lost by strikes, layoffs, illness or accident must be maintained. A Pottery Worker's family has the right to be able to maintain a proper standard of living and be able to plan for the future, safe in the feeling that the wage earner is going to have a job tomorrow and that his or her income is going to be steady the year round, and substantial when retired.

THIS IS NOT A PIPE DREAM!! THIS CAN BE DONE!

HERE ARE SOME OF THE DETAILS OF INCOME SECURITY:

1. Every worker who is laid off through no fault of his own shall be guaranteed unemployment pay of at least 90% of the income he would earn if he worked full time. At the end of one year a job paying his full wages shall be guaranteed available to him.
2. Every worker who is off work because of illness or accident shall be guaranteed benefits equal to 90% of his regular pay. His doctor bill shall be paid in full. His hospital costs for two weeks shall be paid at the rate of not more than $25.00 per day, X-rays and tests up to $50.00, surgeon's fee up to $150.00, and 90% of his lost income for 26 weeks after the first week; and if able to do any light work after that, a job must be given to him. This hospitalization and medical benefits protection shall be given every Pottery Worker while he is unemployed and for one year after he retires.
3. Every Pottery Worker shall have retirement pay which will permit him to enjoy living in the twilight of life. The plan calls for $43.33 per month from retirement to age 70 years, and $33.00 per month after age 70, in addition to all other old age benefits such as your present pension plan and social security.
4. Every Pottery Worker shall have death benefits up to $1,500.00 (depending on length of membership) with $200.00 of it paid to the widow within 24 hours after the member's death so that the widow will have money to tide her over when she needs it most.

ALL OF THESE THINGS THE POTTERY WORKER CAN HAVE IF HE IS WILLING TO FIGHT FOR THEM. THE COST TO THE MEMBER-WORKER IS MINIMAL—NEARLY NEGLIGIBLE. THE POTTERY INDUSTRY OWNERS AND MANAGERS MUST BE AWAKENED TO THEIR RESPONSIBILITIES EVEN IF IT MEANS SHAKING THEM UP.

Ignored In Oscar Derby

Film Colony Gabbling Over Snub Of Hepburn

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Be- cause Audrey Hepburn was scratched before she got to the post, the Hollywood Oscar derby has the whole film colony gabbling today.

Miss Hepburn, star of "My Fair Lady" on the screen, didn't get nominated for the Motion Picture Academy awards. But Julie Andrews — who created Eliza Doolittle on Broadway — did.

Miss Andrews wasn't cast in the Warner Bros. film version. Audrey got the part. But Julie's selection as a best actress candidate resulted from "Mary Poppins," which led the pack with hers and 12 other nominations.

The vote against Audrey — even Warner Bros. admits — is more a vote against Jack L. Warner. The studio boss passed up Julie for the movie although her price was $75,000 compared with Audrey's $1 million.

Then a few weeks ago, when Julie received the Hollywood Foreign Press award, Warner in a speech couldn't remember her name.

"I didn't mean it as a slight," explains Warner. "In this business you're lucky if you remember your own name half the time."

"I'm disappointed she didn't get nominated for an Oscar but I still say I'm right in casting her for the part," says Warner.

Audrey rated critical raves for her performance and the picture is headed for box-office records.

When the movie started, Miss

Andrews never had made a picture. Walter Disney cast her as "Mary Poppins" and she emerged a box-office movie star. But Disney, whose name alone sells all his pictures, can star an unknown movie name.

Warner with an $18-million investment, couldn't afford such a gamble.

The fact remains that it was resentment against Warner's choice that hurt Audrey. Most everybody in Hollywood felt that Julie should have gotten the role in the first place. Only actors vote on nominations, and actors, being emotional people, vote emotionally. Lots of actors hate bosses.

It's that simple.

Julie says she owes all her present success to Warner.

"I felt momentary disappointment when I didn't get the movie but with the way things turned out I now say: 'Thank God.'"

"I could have been Eliza Doolittle the rest of my life — instead of Julie Andrews. I have Mr. Warner to thank for everything." She said this with a smile, but the remark was tinged with sarcasm.

Probably what is the largest piece of wood marble in the world forms the coping stone of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington, Virginia. It weighs 56 tons and came from a quarry in Colorado.

Comment's Declined In Reinstating Officer

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—City Safety Director Carl Lehr has declined immediate comment on the reinstatement of a city policeman he fired last April on charges of fighting and drinking while off duty.

The reinstatement was ordered Thursday by Greene County Common Pleas Court Judge Herman J. Weber who said the civil service commission, which upheld dismissal of patrolman Robert Cartwright, failed to prove the dismissal should be upheld.

The Sports Bench

By BOB DUFFY
Sports Editor

It Happens Every Feb. 22 . . .

Feb. 22 may be Washington's birthday and observed as a national holiday but to Charles (Bud) Manes, who grew up in East Liverpool, the day has become one of significance for another reason.

Manes is head basketball coach at Thiel College at Greenville, Pa. He has held that position the last four years.

In the past two seasons, the Thiel squad, which has been referred to at times as the New York Mets of basketball, found it tough to win a game.

In fact, Thiel suffered 31 straight defeats. While this was not the longest losing streak in college basketball, it may run a close second.

The long losing string, however, came to end Monday night, Feb. 22 at Greenville when Thiel defeated Malone College of Canton, 77-67.

In talking with Bud the other day, he pointed out that strangely it was on Feb. 22 just two years to the day that Thiel had won its last game before the victory famine started. Thiel defeated Bethany on Feb. 22 during the 1962-63 season.

"Last year we lost them all and had dropped 12 this season before winning," Bud said.

No Athletic Scholarships . . .

WAS THERE a celebration on the Greenville campus? "Yes, the fans, who have been wonderful here, carried the kids and me off the floor. There was some celebrating around the campus and one local businessman is taking the squad out for a steak dinner."

The losing streak, of course, is no laughing matter, especially to Manes. "The students and townspeople have been very understanding. There has been no pressure about winning."

Unlike the large universities and some of the smaller colleges, Thiel is limited in what it can offer an athlete and this is the primary reason why Thiel isn't setting the world on fire in basketball.

The school competes against other schools who can offer much more. At Thiel only financial aid is available to a student on a scholastic basis. There are no athletic scholarships handed out.

"I see prospects I would like to have, but other schools can offer them so much more that I don't have a chance to land outstanding boys," Manes replied.

"In fact I have six boys on the varsity squad who never played high school basketball. Our tallest boy is 6-3.

"This team isn't as bad as the record would indicate. We have been in a lot of close games or in games where we led at halftime, but were beaten in the second half."

"Wayne State, which will win our conference, defeated us by five points."

MANES IS looking to the future, pointing to a good group of freshmen who have been playing a lot this season.

While Manes is linked with the basketball losing streak, recall that he tutored a Little All-American trackman in Bill Wise, who gained many honors on the cinders.

Bud has been at Thiel since 1959 as a coach, but before that starred on the football and basketball squads there. He was too small to play high school football and basketball but "grew up" while serving as a lieutenant in the paratroopers.

Thiel isn't planning on stopping with one victory. "I think we can win two more before the season is over," Manes said confidentially.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

IN WEST Virginia they would like to declare a freshman champion in basketball.

The House of Delegates has asked the winning freshman teams of West Virginia and Marshall University to play each other.

The request was in a resolution passed by the House Wednesday on a 64-34 vote. The action does not make a game mandatory, it merely expresses the delegates' sentiment.

Marshall's freshmen are undefeated in 18 games with two remaining while the WVU frosh finished with a 20-1 record.

RICK BOWLING, former Lisbon High standout who captained Kent State's football team last season, has been named on the honorable mention list of the Academic All-American team by the college sports information directors of America.

Bowling won three letters at Kent play wingback for the Flashes. He has a cumulative average of 2.86 and is an honor student in the college of fine and professional arts.

Blair's 26 Pace Lisbon In 70-50 Tourney Start

STRUTHERS—Lisbon's sophomore star Don Blair tossed 26 points through the nets in pacing the Blue Devils to a 70-50 victory over winless Jackson-Milton in their Class A Sectional Tournament start here Thursday night.

Lisbon entered the tournament with a 4-14 record while the Jackson five had not won a game in 18 season starts.

The victory will send Lisbon against Crestview next Thursday at 9.

Behind Blair in the Lisbon scoring was Tim Bucher who scored 16 while Butch McGaffie added 12.

Lisbon took a 21-12 lead at the close of the first period and led 36-25 at halftime.

Ray Stroup, Tom Pavelko and Ross Williams shared honors with 13 each for Jackson-Milton.

Midland Takes First Step In WPIAL

North Union May Prove Stiff Test

While most experts have Uniontown and Midland matched in the WPIAL finals Coach Hank Kuzma isn't looking far past the first game with North Union, a team that could prove to be a tough customer.

The Leopards will take their first step in the WPIAL warfare Saturday night at 7 at the Pitt Fieldhouse in the first game of a doubleheader.

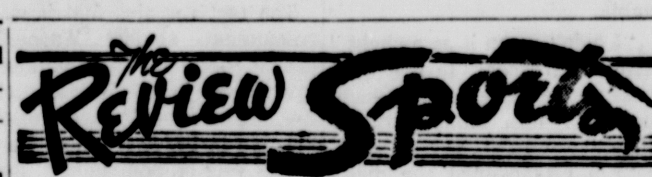

In the second contest at 9, Gateway of Section 11 will meet Section 4 champ Washington with the survivor of this contest meeting the winner of the Midland-North Union battle.

LOOKING over North Union, Kuzma said "you can't take them too lightly, any team that has won 21 games shows consistency."

"This team is also known for coming from behind. They did that on numerous occasions during the season," Kuzma explained.

"We don't know all we would like to about them but they do have a pair of fine guards, who are their leading scorers," Kuzma pointed out.

"NORTH UNION has good speed and is a fast breaking club, they like to use a press and usually plays a zone defense."

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1965 PAGE 16

The top scorer for the North Union five is Gene Painley, a 5-10 backcourt star, who has poured in 419 points. His running mate is Brent Watson, who also stands 5-10 and has 331 points to his credit. Tallest member of the starting five is Rich Holbrook, 6-4, who has accounted for 292 points. Ted Martin and Ben Hall at 6-2 each round out the starting lineup.

MARTIN totaled 267 points this season and Hall scored 166.

The No. 1 substitute is Fred Markovich a 6-footer.

North Union, returning to the WPIAL tournament for the second time in four years, will carry a 21-1 record into the Fieldhouse.

Beaten only by Brownsville in a Section 10 battle, North Union had won 18 games before losing this season.

Brownsville defeated the Union five, 103-80 on the small Brownsville floor.

HAROLD TAYLOR, a Bethany College product, is coach of the North Union team. The only other appearance in the WPIAL tourney was in 1962 when North Union was eliminated by Farrell.

Kuzma was set on his starting lineup of Sim Hill, Ron Brown, Norm Vanlier, Brent Lake and Steve Alston.

Hill, the 6-6 pivot star and one of the most sought after cagers in the Keystone state, will lead the Leopards to Pittsburgh. Hill is the No. 1 point maker with 483 for the season, an average of over 23 per contest.

Ron Brown, the steady inside man is next in line with 373 while Vanlier has been averaging almost 15 points per game.

Southern Local Stuns Clippers, 64-61

Stewart's 3 Late Goals Win Battle; Indians Trailed By 13

STRUTHERS—Southern Local pulled one of the most stunning upsets along the Class A tournament trail by eliminating second seeded Columbiana, 64-61 here Thursday night.

Glenn Stewart became the man of the hour in leading Coach Al Girone's team to one of the school's biggest victories.

Just as it seemed Southern Local would be led out of tournament play, Stewart put on a red hot shooting demonstration hitting three long field goals in the last minute and 21 seconds to pull the game out of the fire.

Girone will now send his club against United next Thursday at 7:30.

Southern entered the tournament with a 6-11 record while Columbiana, seeded No. 2 sported a 15-3 mark and were rated the team to beat in the Sectional here.

THE UNDERDOG Southern five trailed by as much as 13 points at one time in the third quarter but never gave way and finally pulled the big surprise of the tourney.

Columbiana led 18-12 at the end of the first quarter and it looked like smooth sailing for the Clippers who owned a 33-23 halftime lead.

The Indians trimmed the lead and trailed by 46-40 at the end of the third quarter.

WITH LESS than two minutes remaining in the game, Columbiana still had the upperhand showing a 61-56 lead but at this moment, Stewart appeared on the scene and pumped in three straight goals as the Clippers lost the ball by committing several turnovers.

His third goal came with 18 seconds remaining and vaulted Southern into a 62-61 lead. Ron Lewis made a steal in the last seconds and was fouled. He converted both fouls to ice the contest with two seconds remaining.

LARRY SMITH, 6-2 senior jumping jack, pulled down 16 rebounds and paced Southern in scoring with 23 points. He fouled out with three minutes left in the contest. Merv Jones grabbed 11 rebounds.

Stewart wound up with 18 points with 10 coming in the fourth quarter. Smith also flipped in eight points in the final period before fouling out.

SOUTHERN was consistent from the floor hitting 50 per cent on 23 of 46 while Columbiana fired 42 per cent.

The win came at the foul line with Columbiana showing an edge of one field goal but Southern converted 18 fouls while the Clippers made 13.

Jim Murphy topped Coach Rich Berryman's team with 19

Davidson Nets 23rd Straight Win, Faces W.Va. In SC Play Tonight

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
The New Mexico Lobos got their wish. They are coming back to the National Invitation College Basketball Tournament

WVU-Davidson Game Will Be Televised

The West Virginia-Davidson game will be televised tonight at 7:30 over WTRF Channel 7 in Wheeling.

In New York where a year ago they took an 86-54 drubbing from Bradley in the final.

"This is what we've been going for all season," said coach Bob King after the Lobos accepted an NIT bid Thursday night.

New Mexico's acceptance shared the headlines with the 23rd straight victory of the nationally sixth-ranked Davidson Wildcats.

The Wildcats whipped Virginia Military 86-73 in the first round of the Southern Conference championship tourney at Charlotte and advanced to the semifinals with West Virginia, Virginia Tech and William and Mary.

Tulsa defeated North Texas 87-77, Xavier of Ohio downed Memphis State 95-74, Massachusetts edged Boston U. 87-83 and Utah State crushed Montana State 98-71 in other games.

Fred Hetzel's 31 points paced Davidson over the team that upset the Wildcats in last year's Southern Conference tournament. The Wildcats play West Virginia tonight in one semifinal with William and Mary meeting Virginia Tech in the other semi.

William and Mary advanced by downing The Citadel 68-60 and Virginia Tech romped over Richmond 103-63.

Rick Park tossed in 36 points to lead Tulsa to a home-court triumph over North Texas while Clarence Hill's 28 points paced Massachusetts over Boston U. at Amherst, Mass. LeRoy Walker's 37 points led Utah State over Montana State at Logan, Utah.

New Mexico was the sixth team named to the NIT. The Lobos, 10th-ranked in The Associated Press poll with a 19-3 record, accepted after St. John's 16-6, and Texas Western, 17-8, were named earlier Thursday. Villanova, Boston College and Detroit had accepted Wednesday.

The NCAA tournament, which determines the national champion, did not announce the identity of the last team to fill its 23-team field but Texas Tech, the Southwest Conference leader, disclosed it would not compete.

Dr. J. William Davis, chairman of the faculty athletic committee at Texas Tech, said that it had been discovered that Norman Reuther, star of the team, was scholastically ineligible.

Southern Methodist, the current runner-up, now is expected to represent the SWC in the NCAA tourney which starts March 8. The NIT opens march 11.

E. Palestine Eliminated By East Five

YOUNGSTOWN—A tall Youngstown East five led most of the way in eliminating East Palestine, 56-30, in the Class AA Sectional Tournament at the South High Fieldhouse.

First baseman Deron Johnson and third baseman Chico Ruiz signed their contracts Thursday.

Turley In Comeback Bid, Ford Hopes Arm Sound

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Whitey Ford and Bob Turley pitched together with the New York Yankees for eight years. During that time they each won the Cy Young Award as the best pitcher in the major leagues.

Now, playing in different leagues, they again find themselves in similar circumstances. This time, though, they aren't winning pennants and world championships, and they aren't earning awards.

Ford is trying to prove his valuable left arm is sound while Turley attempts a comeback — after a year's absence — with the Houston Astros.

The 36-year-old Ford developed a vascular problem that created arm trouble in the final month last season. He underwent surgery to correct the difficulty during the off-season and now faces a test in spring training. He threw lightly for six minutes in the Yankees' first drill Thursday, then said: "My arm feels all right, but this was just loosening up. I'll be able to tell more after I pitch to hitters. I'll throw harder each day, but I might skip a day. I believe I'll be able to throw regular pitches hard after a week or so."

Turley, whose 21-7 record in 1958 earned him the Cy Young honor, indicated Thursday he is pleased with his comeback efforts to date. The 34-year-old right-hander has no contract with Houston but has been working out with the Astros since Feb. 15.

"I'm really happy because I'd rather be with Paul Richards (Houston general manager) than anyone I know because he has done so much for veteran pitchers," said Turley, who coached with the Boston Red Sox in 1964.

Another sore-armed pitcher, Ernie Broglio of the Chicago Cubs, also tested his arm Thursday and said, "I threw every pitch I have, and my elbow didn't hurt a bit."

Pitcher Bob Bolin of San Francisco suffered a knee injury Thursday night in a two-car collision in Monroe, La. Headed for the Giants' Phoenix, Ariz., training camp, Bolin was hospitalized for observation and X rays.

At the Kansas City camp, first baseman Jim Gentile was told a recently sprained left ankle will prevent him from working out for at least another week.

Bonavena 8-5 Choice Over Zora Folley

NEW YORK (AP) — Argentina's undefeated Oscar Bonavena, eager to get a fat purse, steps up in class tonight against heavyweight contender Zora Folley in a 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Although the muscular 22-year-old South American is fighting a ranking heavyweight for the first time, he has been made a surprising 8-5 favorite over the 32-year-old veteran from Chandler, Ariz.

On the basis of style and experience, the odds seem silly. Oscar, of course, can make it look good with one swipe of his powerful left hook. That's what his supporters are counting on.

In eight fights since he turned pro 13 months ago, the 200-pound mop-haired brawler has won seven by knockouts and one by decision. He has fought no one of consequence with the possible exception of the fading Tom McNeeley whom he stopped in five.

Folley, a slick boxer with a nifty left jab, has a 68-74 record in 11½ years of pro battling. He has scored 38 knockouts and been stopped five times. Doug Jones was the last one to stop him, halting Zora in the seventh round in the Garden, Dec. 15, 1962.

The six-foot, 209-pound veteran's last loss was a 10-round decision to top-ranking Ernie Terrell, July 27, 1963.

Since then Folley has gone unbeaten in six bouts, including a draw in Germany with Karl Mildenberger. His victims included George Chuvalo, the Canadian champion, in a 10-rounder, and Germany's Gerhard Zeck on a fourth-round knockout last Nov. 13.

Manager Bill Rigney of the Los Angeles Angels managed the New York Giants and San Francisco Giants in 674 games. His teams won 332, lost 342.

Indians Show 3 Unsigned

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Three players on the Cleveland Indians' 41-man roster still have not signed their 1965 contract as the Tribe begins spring training here today.

The unsigned players are pitchers Gary Bell and Bud Daley and outfielder Vic Davalillo. They won't be holdouts officially unless they still have not signed by March 1.

Bell and Daley have said they won't report unless General Manager Gabe Paul offers them more money. Davalillo, who played baseball this winter in his native Venezuela, has not been heard from at all.

Paul explains Davalillo's status with: "It's just a matter of bad communications. I'm expecting he'll show up and sign anytime." He said also that Davalillo probably was having trouble getting a visa.

Top weight ever carried to victory in a race at Hialeah was the 135 pounds on Decathlon in the 1957 Royal Poinciana at the Florida track.

Lema Disagrees With USGA Over Change In U.S. Open

NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Lema celebrated his 31st birthday with two swigs of champagne and as many digs at the august U.S. Golf Association and his keen golf rival, Arnold Palmer.

"I think the USGA made a mistake in cutting out the double round on the final day of the U.S. Open," the wise-cracking extrovert from San Leandro, Calif., told a small gathering of friends at a midtown hotel Thursday.

"The 36 holes on Saturday was the one feature that distinguished the Open from the other tournaments. The others now are as rich or richer. Some of them, like the Masters, are gaining great prestige. Now they're all played alike."

The USGA ended a long tradition by changing the format of the Open to a single round a day covering four days. Almost since its inception, like the British Open, it had previously called for two rounds on the final day.

Champagne Tony, winner of the British Open last year and one of the sports' brightest personalities, also had his stiletto sharpened for Palmer.

"Arnold says the pro tour should be reduced to 30 tournaments," Lema said. "If Palmer wants to play in just 30 tournaments, or just 15, that's his business."

"I myself plan to cut down my tournament schedule. But my opinion is that there should be more tournaments, not less—one every week. Give the other guys a chance."

Lema, who has run into an attack of nerves because of a two months' layoff from smoking and who says he can't putt a lick, announced that he planned to pace himself for the coming campaign.

"I'll play only one tournament—Greensboro April 14—before playing in the Masters, which is the next week," he said. "I'll play at Las Vegas, Colonial and New Orleans, skip Memphis and Indianapolis, then get busy with the big money tournaments."

License Time In Ohio

When It Arrives, Can Spring Be Far Behind?

By KEN MCCREARY
For The Associated Press
It's "license - time" in the Buckeye state—and to unpoetically paraphrase that time-honored expression: "when 'license-time' arrives, can spring be far behind?"

During the next several weeks hundreds of thousands of outdoor-inclined Ohioans will be faced with buying the wide variety of licenses necessary for enjoyment of many phases of outdoor recreation, but still capable of poking an unhappy dent in the pocketbook.

Whether you enjoy the outdoors or not, chances are you'll be among those waiting in line, beginning next Monday when the red-on-white 1965 Ohio motor vehicle license tags go on sale.

In addition to $10 plates for the family flivver or truck, you will also be shelling out a $5 bill if you use a house trailer, travel trailer or folding trailer for camping. Your boat trailer also will have to have a new license plate as part of its standard equipment; this price tag varies in relation to the weight.

You'll get an "extra" when you pick up those '65 plates—a colorful, two-piece package which marks the opening barrage in a campaign to promote the Buckeye State's resources, recreation, and vacation facilities, as well as other notable features.

Half the package is a full-sized, full-color booklet called "The Wonderful World of Ohio," depicting various phases of outdoor recreation, industry, history, scenic attractions and entertainment.

During the next several months, the waterways of Ohio will see more boats of every size, shape and description than ever before, so it will pay you to license-shop early and avoid the "boating weather" rush. According to Paul Sarossy, chief of the State Watercraft Division, the '65 certificates are already in the hands of 275 sales agents

Also with your license tags is a brand-new and official highway map with the theme: "Travel Ohio for Fun."

Some Ohioans have questioned the spending of almost $1 million by the state for this double-barrelled sales kit, to be distributed to Buckeye residents rather than to potential tourists. Gov. James Rhodes answers: "If we can't sell Ohioans on all Ohio has to offer, then how are we going to sell them else?"

Meanwhile, back at the license counter, Buckeye State anglers will be relieved to know that spring can't be too far off. New 1965 fishing licenses have been distributed to thousands of agencies across the 88 counties; these become effective (and necessary) at a minute past midnight this coming Sunday.

Again this year, the right-to-fish permits are $2 plus a quarter fee for the agent.

If you're planning a season of fun afloat, whether fishing, water-skiing, sailing, exploring or just plain relaxing, you'll need a boat license, and very probably, one for your outboard motor. As in years past, the price you pay will depend on the type of watercraft you own and the size of the motor you use.

During the next several months, the waterways of Ohio will see more boats of every size, shape and description than ever before, so it will pay you to license-shop early and avoid the "boating weather" rush. According to Paul Sarossy, chief of the State Watercraft Division, the '65 certificates are already in the hands of 275 sales agents

Old Comic Books
Like Money In Bank
DAYTON, Ohio — Old comic books are like money in the bank.

So says Harold Bonnett, operator of a book store for 30 years who sells second-hand comic magazines.

"I knew comic books would be valuable some day," he says, "so I just put them away and waited."

Some he has 25 years old. Collectors will pay up to $25 for some comics, he says, and he has been offered $10 for a first edition of a Superman book.

Museum's Devoted To Indian History
MACON, Ga. — The Ocmulgee National Monument near here is one of the largest museums in the nation devoted to Indian history.

It has exhibits that explain burial grounds, a prehistoric cornfield and an earth lodge, or council chamber, found in the Macon area.

Before white men came to Georgia, the Creek Indians settled in the south and the Cherokee established villages in the highlands.

Australian Features Indoor Run At Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — America's track and field stars face international challenges tonight in the fourth annual Golden Gate International meet focusing on Australian distance star Ron Clarke and the Russian team.

Clarke, the 28-year-old accountant who holds five world marks, seeks another in the two-mile run. He also hopes to gain a measure of revenge against U.S. Marine Billy Mills who beat him at 10,000 meters in the Tokyo Olympics.

"I thought I'd like to take a step at the indoor two-mile," Clarke answered when asked about his 13,000-mile round trip journey to the United States for just two races.

Saturday night he competes in the Mason-Dixon Games at Louisville. He returns home on Sunday.

Jim Beatty set the two-mile mark in 8:30.8 two years ago and Clarke feels he can break it in the Cow Palace run.

Russia will have five men and a woman in the competition with the toughest duel expected in the broad jump where Igor Ter-Ovanesyan faces Ralph Boston.

7 Ohio Cities Added To Youth Center List
WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven Ohio cities are included in the federal government's latest list of areas where Youth Opportunity Centers will be opened.

The Ohio cities, their youth population and the size of the center staff:

Akron 47,981 and 26; Canton 27,324 and 15; Columbus 66,035 and 35; Dayton 57,723 and 31; Toledo 51,482 and 27; and Youngstown - Warren 38,379 and 20.

The centers are part of the Johnson administration's anti-poverty program.

Cleveland was named earlier this month as another site for a Youth Opportunity Center.

Tri-State Hobby Show Arranged At Weirton

WEIRTON — The Rotary Club will sponsor a Tri-State Hobby Show March 25-28 at the Community Center for the benefit of the Hancock-Brooke Mental Health Society.

The show will be held in conjunction with the Tri-State Home and Industry Fair. Hobbyists may file entries by writing to 3440 Elm St. or telephoning 748-6420.

There will be no entry fee. The show is designed to give Tri-State residents an opportunity to display their hobbies, the club said. About 50 entries are expected, including such items as model railroads and autos, guns, flags, coins, stamps and arrowheads.

Coach Salty Parker of the Los Angeles Angels is in his 35th year in organized baseball.

OFF THE RECORD

Hunger For Gold

Man's hunger for gold remains unsated. World gold production has broken all previous records for six straight years. It reached 52 million ounces in 1963, the last year for which complete figures are available. South Africa produces more than half the world output.

Such a mass of gleaming metal would have astounded the gold-hungry Spanish conquistadores. It took them a century after the discovery of America to extract and ship less than 10 million ounces from the New World, the National Geographic Society says.

Even now, the total amount of gold in human hands grows slowly. All the gold mined since the 15th century — about 2.2 billion ounces — would fit easily into an average-sized warehouse.

Yet gold is such an attractive and useful commodity, even in small quantities, that it stimulated the exploration of the Americas, the settlement of California, the Yukon, Alaska and Australia, and unnumbered deeds of violence.

The metal leaped again into the political spotlight when French President Charles de Gaulle proposed that nations return to the gold standard as a basis for settling international debts. Meanwhile, the United States worries about the steady drop in its reserves.

Girl Scout Movement Was Started In 1912

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — The American Girl Scout movement, which today has 163,000 troops throughout the United States and its territories, got under way in Savannah on March 12, 1912.

Mrs. Juliette Gordon Low, a native of Savannah, held the first troop meeting in her home. She was a close friend of Sir Robert and Lady Baden-Powell, the founders of scouting.

Mrs. Low, a talented sculptress, was married to William M. Low, a wealthy Englishman. She lived in England and Scotland as well as the United States.

Junior Editors Quiz on STALACTITES

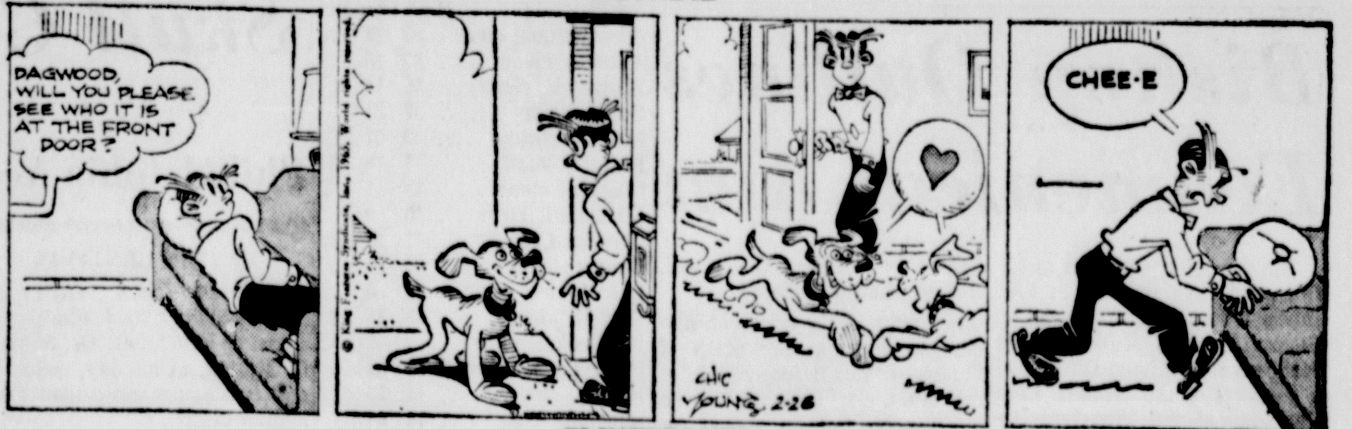

QUESTION: If a stalactite is stone, how can it grow larger?

ANSWER: Did you ever hear of a "spelunker"? There are two in our picture; they are people just like the rest of us except that they have a special hobby of exploring underground caves. There are many such caves in America and other places, where bats sleep by the thousands during the day and underground water trickles in sluggish streams or collects in pools. But the most remarkable sight which rewards the spelunker is that of strange pointed columns hanging down, resembling icicles in shape but actually of enduring stone. These are called stalactites, usually found in caves where there is limestone. Water, trickling from above through cracks in the limestone, carries calcite, a mineral, along with it. Continually being deposited on the hanging stalactites, the calcite makes them gradually grow wider and longer. As water drips from their points, the calcite forms other shapes which build up from the cavern floor; these are stalagmites. The two formations may join, making a stone column. Many of these together give the effect of the pipes of a big cathedral organ.

FOR YOU TO DO: Join the spelunkers' world by coloring everything in the picture (including the spelunkers) with deep mysterious browns and blues. But leave the light from the headlamps white, or use a very light yellow.

Bill Gydellotte of Chester, Pa., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

Bishop Outlines Ecumenical Aim

The role of the church in fulfilling Christ's mission in the modern world was discussed by Bishop John K. Musso of the Steubenville Catholic Diocese at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

About 64 attended the session at which Bishop Musso spoke on "The Ecumenical Council as it Relates to Brotherhood."

THE BISHOP said the church had failed to keep up with the changes of the world in the 20th Century — had a Middle Ages image — when Pope John XXIII issued the call for the Ecumenical Council.

The purpose of the session was to bring up to date the workings and the duties of the church, an effort to provide practical solutions to the problems of today.

"One thing which must be realized," Bishop Musso said, "is that the church is not apart from the secular world — the church is in and of the world."

He said the call for the Ecumenical Council was issued to all the world, all men of good will in whom the hope for the betterment of life exists.

"THE Council is spiritual and pastoral, not bound up in the legalities, for John was a man of the spirit and of the people. The church itself is not an organization, but a spirit of the people."

Bishop Musso spoke of the accomplished work of the Council at Rome which he attended.

He referred to the study of the church itself, for all men, not just those within the church. "Christ was called to save all men, and the church should go out to atheists and materialists, not just to those who are baptized. Everyone has a part in the love of God."

He also discussed ecumenism — "not a watering down of doctrine as some say." He said it is not a compromise of principles or concessions, nor a robbing of faith, nor a union of churches.

IT IS AN attempt to get closer understanding of each other, a respect for each man's beliefs and his devotion to those beliefs in fulfilling God's will, Bishop Musso declared.

He spoke of the action absolving the Jews in the death of Christ — "not a forgiveness of the Jews, for they needed no forgiveness, but an appeal for forgiveness for ourselves for this blame against a people of God."

The bishop said the Council will take up action on religious liberty at its next session, for it is the belief that every man should be free from human coercion.

He discussed the increased role of the bishops in the church and in meeting the responsibility of projecting the faith not only in their own diocese but in relation to the world program. He also spoke of the wider role of the laymen in the church, vital because of their particular talents.

IN THE coming sessions, he said, the Council will consider important matters related to the 20th Century.

These included racism — not just regarding the Negro, but other world race problems; women — the need to elevate the dignity, status and position of women throughout the world; foreign aid — distribution of goods to the underprivileged nations with dignity to the poor, not for charity; birth control — "the church is studying this matter, and if anything can be done within the words of Christ, it shall; divorce, polygamy, poverty, capital and labor."

Bishop Musso declared there is a need for a review of our culture "which does not reflect Christ, for in it, man does what he wants to do. We are only proving in our culture that we are hypocrites, saying one thing, doing another."

"WE MUST direct our efforts at a life in which is based on Christ."

The bishop said he is proud of the church and proud of its new efforts in meeting the problems of spreading God's will to all men.

He was introduced by the Rev. John Clark of the club's brotherhood committee.

Members of the Wellsville, Chester and East Palestine clubs were guests along with several city clergymen.

Alex Kidd, president, was in charge.

Meany Eyes Minimum Of $2-Hour Pay

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany disclosed plans today to lead a delegation of top labor leaders to the White House to demand President Johnson's support for a $2 hourly minimum wage.

"The present $1.25 an hour minimum is a poverty wage," Meany said. "We can't lick poverty in America without an increase."

The administration in the past has rejected organized labor's demands for an increase in the minimum wage.

However, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, in an appearance before the AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting here seemed to leave the door open for the first time, while still refusing to commit the administration.

Wirtz said earlier this week that any such decision was up to President Johnson.

Sources here say they have received word from the administration that an increase in the minimum wage is under active consideration, due largely to pressure from the politically powerful AFL-CIO.

Meany's delegation will include Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers; David Dubinsky, president of the Ladies Garment Workers; and Jacob Potofsky, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union.

They will visit Johnson after the council meeting which closes next week.

They will also ask Johnson to support legislation to cut the 40-hour work week to 35 hours, another key AFL-CIO goal. They apparently have less confidence of convincing the President on this score.

But the AFL-CIO leaders appeared confident enough of success on their minimum wage demands to put their prestige on the line publicly in a confrontation with Johnson.

A spokesman said they will tell the President that the AFL-CIO won't settle for less than a $2 minimum wage.

What will they do if Johnson refuses? "We'll fight it in Congress," the spokesman said.

Philadelphia Academy In Dilemma

By STAN BENJAMIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Some people collect stamps, or coins, or butterflies. Dr. Samuel G. Morton, in his day, collected and catalogued more than 1,000 human skulls.

The collection spanned the world and most of recorded history. After Morton died in 1851, 42 Philadelphians, recognizing the value of the collection, contributed $4,000 to purchase it from his estate. They presented the collection to the city's Academy of Natural History.

The academy has been wondering ever since what to do with it.

For the past four years, the man responsible for Morton's skull collection has been Robert R. Grant Jr., 35, custodian of the academy's mammal department.

Limited display space always is a problem in museums, he said. And the academy's large-as-life displays of stuffed animals in their natural surroundings take up space.

That helps to explain why the Morton skulls have remained in their storage shelves, out of public view, for more than a century.

"This is not strictly our field," Grant said. "We're more interested in animals. We have one mummy on display."

"Nobody is working with the skulls at present and it's kind of a rare thing when somebody asks to see them. That happens, I guess, on the average about once every two or three years."

Morton, a Philadelphia physician, anatomy professor, writer on many scientific subjects, and past president of the Academy of Natural Sciences, wrote in the introduction to a catalogue of his collection, in 1847:

"The primary motive has been to compare the characteristics of the cranium in the different races of men, and these again with the skulls of the inferior animals as indicative of the size of the brain."

The underlying supposition — that intelligence depends directly on brain size — has been "pretty much discredited," Grant said.

Morton's interest in the mind within the skull led him to keep notes that make interesting reading.

He had to obtain his skulls wherever they were available, frequently from prisons or charity hospitals.

Under "No. 539" is "James Moran, an Englishman, who was executed at Philadelphia for piracy and murder, May 19, 1837."

In the cover of another catalogue, Morton pasted a verse from Dana's "Book of Household Poetry":

"What grand, unattainable dreams
What phantom pageants of the brain
Were conjured by the magic mind
That in this skull was once confined?"
